Saunders' Election As Twelfth Ward Councilman Assured

Wet Weather Causes
Light Vote at General
Election in Atlanta
Wednesday.

ONLY ONE CONTEST WAS TO BE DECIDED

Regular Democratic Ticket for Twelve Councilmen, Three Aldermen and Waterworks Head Unopposed.

LIGHT VOTING RECORDS SMASHED.

All records for light voting in Atlanta—and probably in any city election anywhere—were smashed in the municipal election Wednesday in precinct B of the first ward.

Only one vote was cast in the precinct during the 12 hours that the polls were open. Several hundred people are registered in the precinct, which in contested elections of the past, has piled up a substantial total of votes.

Even the managers of the polls did not ballot, it was established. A general feeling of lassitude engendered by the cold and wet weather was blamed for the record light vote.

W. E. (Bill) Saunders, superintendent of the Atlanta Baggage and Cab company, was practically assured of election to council from the twelfth ward, formerly Kirkwood, on the face of virtually complete returns on the city election compiled Wednesday night after the lightest vote in many years.

With the count from only five precincts missing, Mr. Saunders had a total of 247 votes, his nearest opponent being Thomas H. Goodwin, who received 165 votes. Y. H. Shearer received 155 votes. The fourth man, according to figures at hand, is D. Langley, with 141 votes. Total vote from nineteen precincts was 708.

Mr. Saunders is understood to be friendly to the present municipal administration. He was a member of the Kirkwood city council before that suburb merged with Atlanta and has long been active in civic affairs.

Nominees Unopposed.
The regular democratic nominees for three aldermanic and twelve councilmanic vacancies were elected without opposition. W. Zode Smith, manager of the waterworks department, candidate for reelection, and Dr. Fred Morris, who sought the school board vacancy from the first ward, were also unopposed.

The extreme lightness of the vote polled was attributed to the unpleasant weather which prevailed throughout the day and to the fact that the only contest for the four-cornered race for twelfth ward councilman.

Mr. Saunders, indications of his victory are borne out, will take the place of the late R. F. Gilliam, who died before the expiration of his term.

Regular democratic nominees for council and the aldermanic board who were elected were:

Democratic Ticket.

$1,500,000 DEBTS LOOM FOR CITY IN 1924 ACCOUNTS

School Board and Council Pile Up Obligations in Excess of 1924 Estimated Revenue.

BY STEWART F. GELDERS.

Facing the alternatives of helping to plunge the city a million and a half dollars in debt by the end of 1924 or refusing the expressed wishes of a large part of the city's population, the aldermanic board of general council meets this afternoon to act on a pay increase for firemen and policemen, reduction in city water rates and a number of other measures approved by council Monday or which will be approved by council in adjourned session this afternoon.

General council convenes at 3 o'clock to take up the Gordon-Hartsfield proposal for night instead of afternoon sessions of council, the police committee accident prevention bureau, the North Jackson-Ponce de Leon avenue filling station fight, the sale of part of Piedmont park to the Piedmont Driving club, an ordinance drawn at the instance of local jewelers to protect people from sale of fake jewelry by holiday auctioneers and a large list of routine committee business deferred from the Monday session.

Revenues Fall Short.
Prospects for a million and a half dollar deficit in 1924, if council carries out all the obligations it has incurred and promised to incur during 1923, and the school board budget is carried out, first became known when the board of city tax assessors announced Friday that taxable real estate values had been raised $30,000,000 during 1923, making basis for 1924 in revenues of $450,000 in 1924, instead of nearly $1,000,000 as had been anticipated by city authorities.

With 26 per cent, or $117,000, of the increase going automatically to the school department, which has made known that it will probably wind up 1924 short three-quarters of a million dollars, only $333,000 will be left for other city obligations.

Interest on bonds sold during 1923 will increase city's expenses $200,000 next year. Council has already legally obligated itself to provide $60,000 more for finishing the high school and has morally obligated itself to a larger sum for finishing the first taxable unit of the building. It has obligated itself to pay $10,000 for free textbooks for third and fourth grades, $21,000 more than it paid for free books in 1923. It will have to provide $20,000 for improvement of Candler park, or the valuable tract will revert, under terms of the deed of gift, to Asa G. Candler. The terms of the gift were that $30,000 be spent in improving the park in the first three years after the park was given. Only $10,000 has been spent in the first two years. The city will carry over a deficit of about $227,000 for debts already incurred.

These obligations, not counting the moral obligation to assist in making Girls' High school ready for occupancy in 1924, amount to $528,000, or nearly $300,000 more than it can get during 1924 under the estimates made by the tax assessors.

Water Cut and Pay Raises.
The pay raises for policemen and firemen approved by council Monday, which go before the aldermanic board this afternoon for concurrence, will

CARSWELL SCORES WALKER ATTITUDE ON INCOME TAX

"Changes So Fast It Is Impossible To Follow Him," Says President of Senate.

RAPS STATUTORY TAX
URGED BY GOVERNOR

Four Weeks Work Would Be Wasted If New Tax
Proposal Is Followed,
He Says.

President George Carswell, of the Georgia senate, Wednesday night declared that Governor Clifford Walker had "changed his position on the state's tax problem so fast it is impossible for one to be consistent in following him." President Carswell issued a statement in which he urged the general assembly to "act for the good of Georgia regardless of the many conflicting views."

The particular action of the governor against which President Carswell directed his attack, was the message sent to the assembly by the state's chief executive on Tuesday, urging immediate consideration of the Ellis statutory income tax bill, after the governor had earlier asked the legislature to pass a constitutional amendment providing for an income tax.

In explaining this course, the governor, on Tuesday, said that while he desired a constitutional amendment allowing the state to tax incomes and also putting a limitation on the rate of such taxes, at the same time he would be glad to see a statutory income tax bill passed, if possible, in order to get the benefit of the law by 1924 and also to add a second string to the proposal to levy a state income tax.

Principle Is Same.
"Inasmuch as the principle involved is the same," said the governor, "there can be no logical argument for one and, at the same time, against the other."

"After being here for four weeks trying to enact an amendment to the constitution authorizing an income tax," Mr. Carswell said, "the governor now sends a message asking the assembly to pass a statutory income tax, regardless of the constitution."

"Therefore, the four weeks already spent in following recommendations of the governor would be useless and wasteful if he followed his latest request."

A week ago the governor advised against a new income tax, saying that such a measure would exempt all corporations in the state from paying an income tax. And now he takes the position we should only enact a net income tax.

"I say that if a net income tax would exempt corporations a week ago, it would exempt them now."

"I have tried from the beginning of the session to cooperate with the governor in his tax reform program and have left the chair on several occasions to speak for the commission bills. But the governor changes his position so fast it is impossible for me to be consistent in following him."

After his extensive study of the North Carolina plan and after the recommendations of his own tax commission.

Grim Scourge of Childhood DIPHTHERIA CAN BE PREVENTED BY NEW TREATMENT Stayed by Hand of Science

BY PIERRE VAN PAASSEN.

No more diphtheria. That black enemy of childhood, scourge of the human race and swift messenger of death, has finally been conquered. The battle which led to its defeat was fought out in the stillness of the laboratory, after years of patient research and extensive experimental work.

But conquered it is. It has played its role in the combined tragedy and misery of the human race. The day is coming when it will be unheard of, when only the name will remain, when the disease itself will have been consigned to the realm of forgotten things.

Not so many years ago diphtheria claimed a frightful toll of life. And the most sorrowful part of the tragedy was that three-quarters of its victims were little children—boys and girls—hardly more than babies.

Swiftly it struck and without warning—and there was no sure way to combat it.

Then came the discovery of antitoxin. Children who received this treatment enjoyed a better chance for the struggle for life. The diphtheria death rate was lowered at once. But antitoxin is effective only after diphtheria has developed, after the child shows all the symptoms of having contracted the disease.

Antitoxin checks the progress of the disease—it may save life, but it does not give lasting protection. Now comes a great triumph of medical science, a conquest greater than any achieved on the battlefields of destruction—the prevention of diphtheria.

Diphtheria can be stamped out. That is what eminent specialists state positively, that is what Dr. J. E. Acker, bacteriologist and chemist of Atlanta, stated Wednesday with the assurance of conviction.

"The new treatment of diphtheria is absolute and final. It practically means that medical science can lower the death rate of diphtheria to the zero point. Nobody needs to die of diphtheria. The only fight ahead is to have the public recognize the value of the great discovery. Of course the time will come when the treatment will become compulsory or will be demanded as a condition of admission to any school in the city. At present certain that before five years have passed we will have laws in the state which look in Atlanta which will compel diphtheria to be stamped out."

NEW COMMITTEES
SEEK AGREEMENT ON INCOME TAX

First Conference of the House and Senate Fails.
New Effort Today To Break Deadlock.

With the Lankford income tax bill now in the hands of conference committees of the two houses, and with the final passage on Wednesday of the Pace audit bill, creating a state auditing department, progress of the extraordinary session of the legislature speeded up Wednesday with the result that many members believed that the adjournment sine die would come not later than the middle of next week.

The Pace audit bill now only needs the signature of the governor to become law. This final formality, the governor said Wednesday night, will be consummated sometime today.

The income tax bill is now in the hands of the second conference committee, the first having failed to reach an agreement. Points of difference are three amendments made by the House striking out provisions of the bill as it passed the senate originally.

Both houses have refused to recede from their stand and the only possible course to reach agreement is through conference committees.

World War Hero Gets High Rank As Buddies Duck

Sergeant Woodfill To Retire
As Highest Non-Commissioned Officer.

Washington, December 5.—Sergeant Samuel Woodfill, of Indiana, named by General Pershing as the outstanding hero of the World war, will retire from the army this month after 33 years' service in the highest non-commissioned grade through the voluntary action of three of his seniors in rank.

Promotion of the hero to the rank of master sergeant was made possible, according to reports to the war department made public today, through the sacrifice of grades held by Sergeant Major Sewell, Sergeant McLaughlin and Sergeant Acker, who offered to accept demotion in order that their comrade might be promoted and retired in the highest non-commissioned rank.

Sergeant Woodfill now is with the Eleventh infantry. Fort Benjamin Harrison, Ind. He was named to head the detail of army and navy war heroes selected to act as body bearers at the burial of the Unknown Soldier. The retired pay the sergeant will receive as a result of the voluntary action of the three sergeants will be $153 a month.

SEALED VERDICT RETURNED BY JURY IN O'CONNOR CASE

Fate of Young Woman
Accused of $1,000 Theft
Secret Until Alleged Confederate Is Tried.

The fate of Mrs. Helen O'Connor, charged jointly with Charlie Gossett with the theft of more than $1,000 from the Broad Street Market, where the woman was formerly employed as a cashier, will be determined when court officials open a sealed verdict returned by the jury at 6 o'clock Wednesday after trial for six hours' deliberation.

The verdict will be examined today after trial of Gossett has been placed in the jury's hands. Judge E. D. Thomas, of the criminal division of Fulton superior court, instructed the O'Connor jury to return a sealed verdict in witness to the uncompleted case.

One witness had been examined when adjournment of court closed the Gossett trial Wednesday. The witness was Miss Juanita Fleming, sister of Mrs. O'Connor. She testified that the theft was deliberately planned by her sister, Gossett, and that she followed her to the market and subsequent flight of the two indicted principals.

Miss Fleming was also called as a witness during her sister's trial. She gave practically the same testimony then as that given in Gossett's trial. Gossett, she said, told her that he had "fixed it up" to get the money that day.

Mrs. O'Connor took the stand and gave the version of the affair. She said Gossett had snatched the money from her as she was on her way to a bank to deposit it, and that she followed him to Jacksonville in an effort to recover it.

Lieutenant T. O. Sturdivant, head of the city plainclothes department, testified that Mrs. O'Connor gave a different version of the affair after her arrest, and that she followed him to Jacksonville in an effort to recover it.

Gossett and Mrs. O'Connor disappeared from Atlanta following her failure to return from the bank on October 1. They were located and arrested within a few days. Both have been at liberty under bonds of $2,000 each.

COOLIDGE IS OUT IN OPEN IN RACE FOR NOMINATION

President Will Make Formal Acknowledgment of South Dakota Action in Proposal.

M'ADOO MAKES MOST OF FIRST SKIRMISH

Democratic Aspirant Indorses Platform of Tax Reduction and Agricultural Relief.

BY RAYMOND CLAPPER.

Washington, December 5.—The action of the South Dakota party proposal conventions in naming President Coolidge and William G. McAdoo as the republican and democratic preferences respectively, has set the 1924 presidential campaign definitely in motion.

The immediate effect was two-fold. 1. The white house announced that President Coolidge would make an official acknowledgment of the endorsement in a communication which will definitely place his candidacy before the country.

2. William G. McAdoo, at Los Angeles, declared that the democrats of South Dakota had shown they are alive "to the necessity for a progressive administration at Washington which will substitute action for dithering and honesty for graft."

Johnson Is Delighted.
The South Dakota primaries decided nothing, Senator Hiram Johnson declared in a statement announcing his intention to go into the primaries next spring and make a finish fight against Coolidge. He is delighted with the showing he made.

"Four years ago I had not a single vote in the South Dakota convention," he said. "Yesterday without effort of any sort, I had more than one third of the delegates. My announcement of my candidacy was contemporaneous with the selection of delegates, and of course nothing prior to that time was done to my behalf, while for more than two months the most intensive work has been done for the president."

"I'm delighted with the situation. Mr. Coolidge and I will now contend in practically the first direct primary, in March, in South Dakota. Yesterday decided nothing. The republicans of South Dakota themselves will make their choice in March and I am entirely confident of the result."

Coolidge's friends had not been very confident of South Dakota and they were all the more pleased when they noted the president had "run ahead of his ticket" so to speak. For the pro-Johnson candidates, generally speaking, were victorious in the rest of the selections. Governor McMaster, the pro-Johnson candidate for United States senator, defeated Senator Sterling, who sought reelection as a Coolidge man. The delegates chosen were Norbeck's pro-Johnson men, so that in reality Johnson obtains a second choice pledge.

La Follette is left well outside the republican fold and if he expects to figure in the presidential race, he will have to do it as a third party man.

ACQUIT YARBROUGH OF FLOG CHARGES AT FOURTH TRIAL

Jury Returns Verdict of Not Guilty After Day of Deliberation in Case of Accused Dentist.

Macon, Ga., December 5.—Dr. C. A. Yarbrough was acquitted of the charge of rioting in connection with middle Georgia floggings, by a jury in Macon city court at 6:30 o'clock tonight. The jury had been out 24 hours.

This was the fourth trial of Dr. Yarbrough. At the first trial he was acquitted. The next two trials were mistrials.

The jury hearing the case of J. F. Alexander, alleged flogger, on trial on a charge of assault and battery, was taken from the courtroom while the Yarbrough jury made its report.

Alexander On Trial.
Alexander, Macon rocer, charged with assault and battery in connection with the flogging of Ollie M. Perry on the night of August 1, 1923, went on trial shortly after noon. Most of the morning was taken up with the selection of a jury two panels of 24 men each being exhausted when only eleven jurors had been chosen. Another panel of 12 men was summoned and the jury completed.

Ollie Perry was the first witness to take the stand. He testified that Alexander and two other men came to his store on the night of August 1, and at the point of a pistol in the hands of Alexander, he was handcuffed and thrown in an automobile waiting outside and carried outside the city and severely flogged. He identified Alexander as the man who held the pistol on him and as one of the members of the flogging party. Perry exhibited his back to the jury which was still badly discolored from bruises he said he received the night he was beaten. Women were excluded from the court room while the jurors viewed his body.

"Clean-up Squad."
On cross-examination Perry testified that Alexander told him shortly after reaching his store that they were members of the "clean-up squad."

"They told me a few minutes before they whipped me I had been selling whisky to minor children," Perry testified, "and I denied the charge. I begged them not to whip me as I was sick and told them I had a bad sore on my back and was not able to take a whipping."

"I pleaded with them to let me leave town rather than take the whipping. They told me they did not give a damn if they killed me."

Perry testified further on cross-examination that while he was being whipped, one of the men in the party said, "if you are tired, let me have a rest." After being whipped, he said he was left to the woods to walk home. He told of seeing Alexander about three weeks after he was whipped at the state. He testified that Alexander then to officers as the man who headed the three who seized him at his store.

Tells of Abduction.
A. I. Roberts, who was in Perry's store the night he was seized and flogged, was the second witness for the state. He testified that Alexander was the man who first entered the store and pulled a pistol on Perry. He testified that Perry was next handcuffed and taken from the store to an automobile in front.

"I started out the back of the store," he testified.

News Outside the Door.
Wild life is undoubtedly vanishing before the steady march of civilization, yet anyone who loves his furred and feathered neighbors is constantly meeting them in strange and unexpected places and finds that not a few are adapting themselves to new conditions.

Perhaps not more than one or two of the busy crowd crossing the Broad street viaduct Wednesday about 12:30 o'clock saw an occurrence unusual for the heart of the south's metropolis.

A great chattering of English sparrows drew the writer to the rail in time for him to see a brown bolt fall into the center of a ring of these feathered gamins of the streets and bear one away to the top of the board fence that parallels the railroad tracks. A sparrow hawk had made his strike and capture as surely as though in the heart of the open fields.

But a wagon that came clattering along by the fence was too much for the savior fair of even this civilized hawk. He gave a start, his prey made a fluttering escape and he finally flew away over the roof of The Constitution building.

It was a sight to make the native lover rub his eyes in wonderment. A hawk swooping to make his kill but two blocks from Five Points. One might almost expect to see Pan himself leaning from the cab of the locomotive that came lumbering by!

Insurgent Republicans Read Pact on the Floor Forcing Longworth to Public Approval.

COOLIDGE TO DELIVER MESSAGE AT NOON

Changes in House Rules To Open Gate to Floor Amendments Not Possible Before January 14.

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.

Washington, December 5.—The 68th congress was organized today with the breaking of the two-day deadlock in the house over the speaker-ship, and it will receive President Coolidge's first annual message tomorrow.

The president will address congress in person at 12:30 o'clock at a joint session in the house chamber.

Although congress now is ready to function, little can be done in the way of legislation until after the Christmas holidays. Committees of both the house and senate have yet to be organized, and they must pass on all important measures before there can be action by either house.

The break leading to the re-election of Speaker Gillett on the first ballot vote came after republican insurgents had satisfied themselves that there would be opportunity next month to offer amendments to the house rules. Given this assurance on the floor by Representative Longworth, of Ohio, the republican leader, the group which for eight ballots had supported either Representatives Cooper, of Wisconsin, or Madden, of Illinois, flocked almost solidly to Gillett, giving him a majority of eight votes.

Garrett Support Solid.
The result showed: Gillett, 215; Garrett, democrat, 197; Madden, republican, 2.

James, of Michigan, and Reid, Illinois, republicans, stuck to Madden to the last. Berger, socialist, Wisconsin; Kvale, independent, Minnesota; and Kvale, farmer-laborer, Minnesota, voted "present" on all the previous ballots. Kvale and Welford had voted for Cooper, but Berger had supported none of the candidates.

The senate, meeting at noon, again was unable to function pending organization of the house, and remained in session just two minutes. After adjournment many of its members flocked to the house chamber to witness the end of the speakership fight.

The galleries were crowded, and for the first time since the deadlock developed there was a tenseness among spectators and members.

Read True Pact on Floor.
The word was out that insurgents had abandoned their fight, but there was a last-minute flurry as their chairman, Representative Nelson, of Wisconsin, insisted that Mr. Longworth reaffirm on the floor the terms of the agreement regarding the amendment of rules which was reached at the conference last night between the republican leader and the leaders of the insurgent group. Mr. Nelson read to the house a statement embodying the insurgents' interpretation of the agreement, and Mr. Longworth said the interpretation was correct.

There was a lessening of tension as it was shown, early in the balloting, that the insurgents were lining up behind Mr. Gillett. The crowd remained, however, for the formality of the swearing in of the speaker.

After Mr. Gillett was sworn in his place on the dias, members of the house took the oath of office, assembling in the well. Several statements were made at a time. The only break in this routine came with the challenging of the right of Representative Miller, republican, of Kentucky, democrat, of Illinois, to take their seats.

"Please advise me—"

The investment editor of a great newspaper said recently: "Letters come to my desk every day—pathetic letters, many of them—telling how certain securities had been bought, how the price had declined, and ending with the plea, 'Please tell me what to do.' How can I tell them what to do? Now and then I may be able to give helpful advice, but usually I can only drop the hint, 'Next time, investigate before you buy, not afterwards.'"

Many inquiries are received by newspapers and magazines asking about the merits of first mortgage real estate bonds—but did you ever hear of an investor writing that the value of one of these bonds had declined, or that the security back of it had depreciated?

No owner of a Miller First Mortgage Bond has ever lost a dollar of principal or interest, or had to wait a day for money due him. And the rate of interest goes as high as 7%. If you would like to know more about these securities, telephone our office, call on us, or just tear out this advertisement, write your name and address on it, and mail it. We will send you our booklet, "Creating Good Investments," with a circular describing an issue of bonds now available for investment.

congress was ready to receive communications from him. The house also adopted, and without debate, a resolution under which the rules in force in the sixty-seventh congress shall govern it until January 14. At that time under the agreement between republican organization and insurgent leaders, a majority of the house will be permitted to decide what changes shall be made. After President Coolidge delivered his message tomorrow it is the intention of republican house leaders to have a three-day recess, during which the various standing committees can be organized and are able to report legislation.

COOLIDGE MESSAGE TO BE BROADCASTED.

Washington, December 5.—The voice of President Coolidge, addressing congress tomorrow, will be carried over a greater portion of the United States and will be heard by more people than the voice of any man in history.

Arrangements were completed tonight for broadcasting the president's address as he delivered it in the chamber of the house of representatives through six powerful radio stations and it is expected that millions of people will hear Mr. Coolidge speak. The broadcasting will begin at 12 o'clock noon, eastern time, when the house meets. The stations to participate in the broadcasting and the wave lengths to be used include WJAZ, American Telephone and Telegraph company, New York city, 403 meters; WCAP, Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone company, Washington, 469; WJAR, Cutler company, Providence, R. I., 360; WDAF, Kansas City Star, Kansas City, 311; KSD, St. Louis Post Dispatch, St. Louis, 546; and WFAA, Dallas News, Dallas, Texas, 476.

GRIM SCOURGE OF CHILDHOOD STAYED

pel parents to have their children submitted to the new diphtheria treatment," Dr. Acker stated.

"Some children are able to resist diphtheria. Others are not. But now comes the wonderful discovery of Dr. Schick, of Vienna, Austria, which will show which children need protection—which are susceptible and which are not," Dr. Acker stated.

"The Schick test is not something new. Of not such recent date as the discovery of diphtheria toxin, for it has been tried out successfully in many clinics and several large cities in the United States are introducing the Schick test as part of the hygienic work carried on in the schools. The experiments carried on in other cities and the results that the Atlanta Health department and many Atlanta doctors have had with the Schick test and subsequent treatment, have established the fact that the preventative for diphtheria, as a certain cure and as an elimination of the dreaded disease.

"The only fight that is ahead is the education of the public to the possibilities of the treatment. And the health department of Atlanta will make tests free of charge to all parents who want to find out whether their children are susceptible to diphtheria," the chemist said.

The Schick test, Dr. Acker explained, consists in giving the child a tiny injection in the arm between the layers of the skin. If the child is susceptible to the disease, and in that case it may be attacked any day or any hour of the day or night, a red spot appears a few days after.

Now the Schick test of course does not make the child immune. But it shows whether the child may develop diphtheria any minute of the day or night. There is no need to point out the danger of the disease. All parents know its deadly ravages, its swift destruction and the great death rate it carries.

After the Schick test has been taken and the red spot appears, the doctors begin the treatment, which consists of three injections, taken in several day intervals. The serum injected is called toxin-antitoxin. The moment it enters the blood it begins to build up immunity. Three injections are considered sufficient. The child is then immune. For safety's sake, however, Schick tests are made, but out of the 99 cases of 100, the three injections had driven away the spectre of child life, diphtheria.

Experiments carried out at various United States hospitals and clinics showed that of children examined under the age of one 15 per cent were susceptible, from 2 to 4 years 66 per cent were susceptible and from 4 to 6, 68 per cent were susceptible.

"The idea is becoming more prevalent in medical circles," said Dr. Acker, "to disregard the Schick test and administer the treatment consisting of toxin-antitoxin to all children. The younger the better. That is the way the disease will finally be eliminated," he said.

Makes Immune for Life.

"For the toxin-antitoxin renders the child immune for life. Of the large number of children injected with the serum in New York subsequent tests showed that the treatment had been 99 per cent successful. That was considered sufficient reason to continue the use of the toxin-antitoxin and that is why the health department of Atlanta will continue its use and will extend all its efforts to help in the stamping out of the diphtheria terror."

When the Schick test was first known, Dr. Acker received many inquiries from Atlanta doctors in regard to the method of administration and the evidence of reaction, the little red spot on the arm. There was nothing painful about it, but the doctor knew that he was susceptible to diphtheria. At once he took some injections of the toxin-antitoxin serum and subsequent Schick tests have revealed the fact that he is cured and immune from the disease.

THREE PERSONS DIE AS FARM HOUSE BURNS

Bay City, Mich., December 5.—Three persons were burned to death and another escaped with serious burns when the farm home of Joseph Delosh, near Tuxedo, was destroyed by fire this morning. The victims were Mrs. Delosh, aged 50, her daughter Elsie, 20, and Miss Katherine Kish, school teacher, who boarded at the Delosh home. Delosh escaped from the house after being badly burned.

Baldwin Pleads For British Vote On Election Eve

London, December 25.—On the eve of polling day Premier Baldwin issued what is assuredly one of the simplest and briefest election appeals in the history of British electioneering. In it he says:

"I appeal to my fellow countrymen and women to give me their support today in the fight against unemployment. I ask this for their own sake and for the sake of the rising generation."

(Signed) "STANLEY BALDWIN." This almost naive way of asking the nation for a mandate to reverse completely its fiscal policy is characteristic of the prime minister's election campaign which on his part has been conducted with a complete absence of personalities; all his speeches have been addressed to the task of explaining, without the aid of rhetoric his proposed policy and its implications.

Get Answer Today.

Tomorrow will give him his answer from the country, for the results of some 195 of the 540 constituencies to be polled will be known tomorrow night and should suffice to give an indication of how the electorate is going. They are chiefly the great London and provincial boroughs, but a sufficient sprinkling of county results will be announced tomorrow night to show the trend of the rural vote. Virtually the complete results will be known Friday night.

There are so many features differentiating this contest from previous elections, and so many interests involved, that more than ever has the excitement to learn the outcome been maintained to the last moment. Exceptional methods have been arranged for displaying the figures in many prominent places.

Is Leap in Dark.

No general election of recent years has been such a leap in the dark. Mr. Winston Churchill has ventured the prediction that if protection is defeated at this election it will not be proposed again for a whole generation.

Speeches and manifestos tonight are numerous, but there is little new to be said on the situation. Premier Baldwin, Mr. Lloyd George, Mr. Asquith, Mr. Churchill and Mr. Ramsay MacDonald are all making final efforts to win votes tomorrow in various parts of the country.

Tourist Camp.

Hawkinsville, Ga., December 3.—(Special.)—The Kiwanis club has an active highway committee and as a result of its interest an excellent tourist camp has been fitted up on the open square next to the court house. Not only water, lights, police protection, comfort rooms, but a big shelter where the cars can get out of the rain, has been provided. An army camp range with wood also is a part of the equipment.

The road from Hawkinsville to Waycross is free of detours and no bridges are down. Travel routed from Hawkinsville to Fitzgerald via Rockwell finds a near and better route. With its shorter route, the Dixie short route is crowded with tourist.

CENTENARY CAMPAIGN ORGANIZATION FORMED

Plans for the campaign to collect pledges of the North Georgia conference of the Methodist church to the centenary campaign of the church were outlined at an organization meeting at Wesley Memorial church Wednesday morning. Every organization in the church will be asked to aid in the work and an intensive campaign will be put on in January. Dr. S. P. Wiggins, missionary secretary of the conference, presided.

During January it is planned to hold all-day missionary meetings at every local church. A week of prayer will be observed where possible, and collecting agencies will be formed in each church. Efforts will be made to collect as much as possible by the last week in January. The conference has more than fifty churches.

Dr. A. J. Cuthbert, missionary secretary of the North Georgia conference in South Carolina, explained plans of organization, the co-operating agencies and the calendar of operations. December will be devoted to a cultural program, including the distribution of special literature, it was announced.

Dr. W. A. Shelton, of Emory university, conducted devotional exercises and among the speakers were Bishop W. B. Murray and Dr. A. J. Weeks.

There are about 600 churches in the denomination that subscribed more than $10,000 each to the fund. About $5,000,000 of the total subscription remains to be collected.

had been a childhood friend of "Cap" Joiner, and was admitted one of the south's fairest women—possessing all the grace and charm that southerners have learned count as the heritage of their womanhood, the queenly beauty it is our good fortune to gaze upon. She rode by the side of "Cap." "Chief" Cody is looking around.

For when he rides across the Spring street viaduct in his powerful car, just as bright crimson as "Cap" Joiner's buggy, and just as snappy and just as rubber-tired—he wants the fairest of Atlanta's fair to ride by his side. And who can blame the chief?

He is willing to submit the choice to the fire department, to the city council, to the whole city of Atlanta, if need be, but he wants that pretty girl.

The whir of the motors, then, can take the place of the clatter of hoofs; the shiny buggy can stand aside for the thundering advance of the roadster, but the pretty girls—that's different.

Moses Rips Hide In Hot Attack On World Court

New York, December 5.—Development of a world court at The Hague in place of that set up under the league of nations was proposed here tonight by Senator Moses, of New Hampshire, in an address at the annual dinner of the American Association of Woolen Manufacturers.

Senator Moses, an "irreconcilable" of the senate foreign relations committee, and chairman of the republican senatorial campaign committee, is understood to have discussed his views with other republican leaders in the senate in connection with the pending world court proposal from President Harding.

Stating that America had sponsored The Hague tribunal, Senator Moses asked "Why should we turn our back upon a child of our own creation in order to fondle the rag dolls of foreign diplomats?"

Senator Moses declared the world court could not be "disentangled from the league of nations by a reservation or any other amendment short of the destruction of the entire protocol."

Warns of Vortex

"Like the treaty of Versailles," he said, "the league court carries obligations and implications which the United States can not undertake unless we are prepared to repudiate the treaty of 1920 and to take the first step in a path which leads to a vortex of close and inescapable entanglement in European problems."

Yet those of us who recognize the facts and who have the temerity to assert them are characterized as humanely strabismic and politically paralyzed. We are charged with obstruction and are taunted with having no constructive plan to offer as a return for the promise of high international blue-sky law can properly interfere with its operation.

Refers to College

"And this, too, in the face of a recent declaration by the newest of all senators, save one, that he clutches the key to the problem, possesses the formula for the solution of our difficulties, and can assure the peace of the world—thus providing once more the old truth that many things, though hidden from the wise and prudent, are revealed unto babes and sucklings."

"But from my point of view, I look beyond the present league court and I see another tribunal, in the creation of which the United States had no small part and to the strengthening of which the United States later made the greatest contributory suggestion—a suggestion which was rendered nugatory only because other nations were not then sufficiently enlightened or sufficiently chastened to meet our advanced opinion. The Hague tribunal, which I am speaking of, has a long and honored record."

The Hague Gets Praise

"And, because of this record, to my mind The Hague tribunal now, as from its inception, represents a firm foundation upon which to erect, if such a structure is necessary, an international temple of justice, permanent in its character, broad in its functions, paid by its representative nations, and a tribunal to which all peoples may repair, knowing that its bench shall be impartial from countries signatory to The Hague treaties without submitting its judges to the indignity of being the gauntlet of any council or assembly whose authority has already been disdained and flouted."

"We are daily assured by those who wish to profit by our power and our authority that we possess the moral leadership of the world. If so, why not assert it—in better phrase, why not reassert it—by turning again to The Hague tribunal, a living body, which needs only to be nurtured to become what we once sought to make it?"

at least so far as South Dakota is concerned.

The South Dakota result makes Coolidge and McAdoo the chief presidential contenders for the moment. If these two men should finally obtain the nominations of their respective parties, a unique campaign would result, due to the contrasting political methods of the two men.

Reactions Typical.

Their reactions to the South Dakota endorsements are typical of them. McAdoo strikes out immediately with a vigorous statement taking full advantage of the opening offered him. Coolidge keeps quiet, but less the word emanate mysteriously from the white house that he will acknowledge the endorsement in an appropriate manner.

McAdoo welcomes the democratic platform adopted at the Pierre convention, especially the tax reduction and agricultural relief planks. McAdoo handled the war financing under the Wilson administration and placed the federal reserve act into operation. He is as familiar with tax problems as any man in public life. He has also announced that he favors a soldier bonus financed by a long term bond issue. As to farm relief, one of his political friends, Bernard M. Baruch, has spent two years working on co-operating enterprises for farmers and the results of his investigations will be placed at McAdoo's disposal.

Coolidge will make his views known in his message to congress Thursday. After that utterance, which will serve as his campaign platform, the issues will be well drawn and the fight can go forward actively.

McADOO TO ANNOUNCE CANDIDACY SOON

Los Angeles, Calif., December 5.—William G. McAdoo, one of the leading candidates for the democratic presidential nomination, will make formal announcement of his candidacy when he accepts the majority nomination accorded him by South Dakota democrats Tuesday night.

McAdoo's friends here were certain of this Wednesday after the former secretary of the treasury had expressed elation over the results of the first primary vote to go on the record, and promised "due response" to the action before January 1, by which time he must accept the nomination and the platform that goes with it, or let it go by default.

McAdoo characterized the South Dakota result as a vigorous step against the republican administration, in a message to W. W. Howes, chairman of the state democratic committee at Pierre.

"The democrats of the progressive state of South Dakota have conferred me a great honor by their endorsement," McAdoo's message read. "They are alive to the necessity for a progressive administration at Washington which will substitute action for dormancy, decision for drift, honesty for graft and justice for privilege in the conduct of national affairs. Please assure my friends of my deep appreciation of their confidence. I shall, within the time permitted by the South Dakota law, make due response to the action of the convention."

6000 New Bell Telephones In Georgia In 1923

THE telephone construction programme in Georgia and throughout the South this year has been the largest ever undertaken by the Bell System.

The investment in Georgia alone this year will amount to more than $2,000,000 for new equipment, new telephones, new wire, new switchboards, new central office equipment and new buildings.

Practically all this expenditure was new money secured from investors who have faith in the future growth and development of our State.

Such an investment enabled us to break all previous records and make a net gain of approximately 6286 new telephone stations in Georgia this year.

To do this it was necessary to install 21,772 telephones and discontinue 15,486.

There are now more than 103,400 Bell telephones in Georgia and we must continue building to keep pace with the growing telephone needs of Georgia and of the South.

BISHOP ATKINS DIES OF STROKE

EDMONDS LAUDS WORK OF TARIFF CONGRESS

Daytona, Fla., December 5.—(Special.)—Richard H. Edmonds, editor of The Manufacturers' Record, wired tonight from his winter home at Daytona to President John H. Kirby, of the tariff congress, which meets in Chattanooga tomorrow, as follows:

"I greatly regret that it is not possible for me to join with you and others who are gathered in one of the most important conferences ever held for the advancement of the south. The tariff really is an economic measure and always should have been regarded from the purely economic standpoint and not from the political. The south has needed a protective tariff far more than any other section but unfortunately for the welfare of the agricultural and industrial interests of this section too many of our people have been made to believe that a protective tariff is a monstrosity designed purely for the enrichment of a comparatively few manufacturers instead of realizing that it is absolutely essential to the welfare of agriculture as well as industry. In times past southern representatives in congress have sacrificed their own section by voting for free trade even on the raw materials produced by the south while ample protection was being given to the finished product made by eastern factors out of southern raw materials."

Sacrificed by Friends.
"This section has thus been sacrificed in the house of its friends for an economic fallacy. A protective tariff is absolutely essential to safeguard this country from being flooded with the products produced by the cheapest labor in the world at wages which would mean starvation to American workmen and the complete breaking down of the tariff system. Northern and western manufacturing interests have through years of successful operation accumulated far more capital than have the southern industries and therefore do not need protection to the same extent that the south does. Northern and western agricultural interests with rare exceptions are not as much endangered as the cottonseed oil, soy bean, peanut and kindred agricultural interests of the south."

"Therefore from every standpoint the south should be the leading influence of the nation in favor of a protective tariff."

Has Been Costly Failure.
"Its failure in the past to vote a protective tariff has cost this section not merely hundreds of millions of dollars but literally billions of dollars which would have had they been saved to the south enriched every part of this section and every interest in it. For more than 40 years The Manufacturers' Record has sought to discuss the tariff strictly from an economic standpoint without regard to party politics. I greatly rejoice in the work which you and those associated with you are accomplishing in the organization of the southern tariff congress and I am firmly convinced that the Chattanooga meeting will mark one of the great epochs in the history of the south. The attention which it is receiving in advance from the newspapers of the whole south indicates that its deliberations will be widely discussed and will have tremendous influence in changing the thought of the south from the fetish of free trade to a realization of the fact that a protective tariff will prove of incalculable value to every interest of this section and thus of the nation."

Baby Guy Is Pawn In New Outbreak Of Stillman Row

New York, December 5.—Baby Guy once more became the storm center of the Stillman divorce litigation Wednesday, when former Governor Miller, recently retained as reinforcement for James A. Stillman's legal hosts, renewed attacks on the boy's legitimacy and his mother's character.

Not the divorce itself, but the child's legitimacy, is the real question at issue, he told the appellate division of the Brooklyn supreme court. He submitted the remarkable "confession letter" and other letters and telegrams which he said proved the existence of an affair between Fifi Potter Stillman and Fred Beauvais, the Indian.

"Baby Guy was born on November 7, 1918," Miller declared, in opening the appeal from Judge Morechauser's decision, and two hundred and eighty days before the birth of Guy was February 1, 1918.

"Mrs. Stillman was living at Pleasantville, Westchester county, away from her husband. On January 28 Fred Beauvais arrived at Pleasantville. TOY PISTOL IGNITES GASOLINE, BOY KILLED

Athens, Ga., December 5.—A toy pistol and an abandoned automobile from which the gasoline had not evaporated resulted in the death of Grady Thurmond, 12, son of Mr. and Mrs. O. T. Strickland, three miles from Danielsville.

Saturday afternoon the youth was playing with a toy pistol, firing it here and there. He stuck the barrel into the opening of the gas tank of an automobile that had not been in use for several weeks and the explosion of the pistol cap ignited some gasoline in the tank which blew up, severely burning the boy.

He died this morning. He is survived by his father and mother, three brothers, Roy, Guy and a baby brother, and the following sisters, Mrs. Moselle Draper, of Madison county, Mrs. Gertrude Gunter, Detroit, Mrs. Freeman C. Moon. The funeral and interment will be conducted sometime Thursday, after the arrival of relatives.

To pass the Ellis bill, the legislature would be forced to remain in session at least ten days longer at a further and needless expense.

"The different positions and different views of the governor leave the general assembly with nothing to follow except the dictates of its own good judgment. Knowing the financial condition of a large proportion of the citizens of Georgia, I doubt the wisdom of placing any additional tax on any of the people at this time, but we should endeavor to distribute the burden and see that taxes already being levied are properly collected and expended."

Charlotte Moore, of Muncie, Ind., won national honors today in the canning judging contest. Camille Hicks, Hope, Ark., was second and Eileen Bergstrom, Virginia, Minn., was third.

NEW COMMITTEES SEEK AGREEMENT

Stewart raised the point of order that the bill had already been reconsidered, but the speaker ruled that this was a new bill, with a new number on the calendar and with vital changes in its provisions, therefore, a motion to reconsider at the proper time would be entirely in order.

Need 138 Votes Today.

With conference that the conference committee on the Lankford bill will reach some sort of an agreement today, it is pointed out that a full attendance of members is vitally important in the house. The speaker has ruled that a two-thirds constitutional majority of the entire membership will again be necessary to agree to any changes made in the bill as it passed the house the first time. It is assumed as it is admitted that the house committee will undoubtedly have to recede from its position on one or more of the three points in dispute, it will therefore be necessary to again secure 138 votes to agree to that time.

On original passage the vote was 141 to 51, showing that practically the same percentage of attendance will be required as was present at that time.

When debate on the Pace audit bill began in the house on Wednesday morning, Representative Milner of Dodge, and Stewart, of Atkinson, raised the point that the house could not possibly pass on this bill, inasmuch as it was not included in the governor's original call for the special session.

Representative Stewart argued that, although the second amended call, issued on November 16, did include the question, this call was in fact null and void, on the ground that the governor had invoked his entire authority in the original call.

Legality Up to House.

Speaker Neill ruled that the vote of the house itself would have to decide this question, holding that the presiding officer is only supposed to rule on questions of parliamentary law and that as this was a question of constitutional law, the house, as a sovereign body, would pass upon the measure.

The Pace bill provides for the creation of a department of audits and accounts, which will supervise all expenditures of state funds and conduct semi-annual audits of the various state departments. It further provides for the appointment of a state auditor to receive an annual salary of $4,000; one chief examiner at $2,400; one assistant examiner at $2,400 and such clerks or stenographers as in the opinion of the state auditor might be necessary.

As originally adopted by the senate the bill provided that the state auditor's salary be $5,000 and the chief examiner and his assistant be paid $3,000 per annum. This was amended to the reduced salary figures by the house and later received concurrence of the senate.

Senator Pace, of the thirteenth, author of the bill, immediately after final passage of the measure, was swamped with congratulations from members of both houses. His measure was first introduced at the regular session last summer, adopted by the senate and was held over as unfinished business in the house when adjournment was declared.

Held Until Second Call.

At the beginning of the session this bill was the first to be read in the new session, was passed by an overwhelming vote in the senate and transmitted to the house where it was held up due to interpretation of a number of representatives that the bill could not legally be considered at the special session.

Governor Walker then issued a second call to the general assembly, in the form of an amendment to his first call which included the consideration of matters relating to an audit department. The bill then went through the same channel as twice before and emerged victorious.

At its regular morning session the senate voted to table the administration property classification bill offered by Senator Mason, and the Phillips budget bill.

Octogenarian To Make Stage Debut As Concert Singer

New York, December 5.—At eighty, Mrs. Henry Clay Wright, of Austin, Texas, will make her debut here as a concert singer. In so doing she will realize a life-long ambition, sacrificed 57 years ago when she married and gave herself to raising a family.

An old friend, Mme. Hagerthy-Snell, herself a singer with a studio in the Metropolitan opera house, has arranged for Mrs. Wright's appearance on the evening of December 13, in the Wurlitzer auditorium.

For the first time she will sing to others than her family, her immediate friends, the congregation or the old people in the Old Ladies' home and the Confederate home in Austin.

Afterward she intends to return home to her family. She has four children and seven grandchildren.

As long as she can remember she has awaited the chance to become a great singer. As Sarah Jane Brown, she was left an orphan at two years, and was adopted by Colonel and Mrs. George W. Grant. And she never had the opportunity to study except for a few lessons at the age of twelve.

Mrs. Wright is small and slight, but her voice is firm and clear, her step sure. She hasn't a single grey hair.

cost $148,000 in 1924, according to estimates made in the comptroller's office. Reduction of the water rate from $2 to $0.90 will cost the city $240,000 in 1924, according to estimates from the same source.

The pay raises have been endorsed by organizations representing a substantial element of Atlanta voters and tax payers, including the Merchants' association, retail food dealers, federation of trades, and others. Atlanta policemen and firemen are paid less than those of practically all other cities in Atlanta's population class in the United States. The salary scale is substantially below that fixed by the United States department of commerce and labor as sufficient to maintain "American standards of living" and is said by advocates of the increases to keep many firemen and policemen who have families to support in actual want.

The water rate was raised early this year as an emergency measure at the same time that $9 city employees were cut off the pay rolls to prevent a large deficit for 1923. At the time it was increased, council pledged to reduce it before the end of the year to its original figure. The reduction was authorized by council Monday and will be asked in the aldermanic board today in fulfillment of that pledge.

Parent-Teachers Hear York Plan For School Tax

Suggestions as to how money might be secured to operate Atlanta schools by a special tax program were made by Councilman York, in an address Wednesday night before the Parent-Teacher association of Luckie Street school. He suggested that the city tax be reduced to $1 per $100 and which, it is said, will be necessary to run the schools and purchase text books for two grades each year. He spoke against any measure that would reduce the forces of the police, fire, street and sanitary departments. Mr. York was elected an honorary member of the Luckie School Parent-Teacher association.

Suggestions as to how money might be secured to operate Atlanta schools by a special tax program were made by Councilman York, in an address Wednesday night before the Parent-Teacher association of Luckie Street school. He suggested that the city tax be reduced to $1 per $100 and which, it is said, will be necessary to run the schools and purchase text books for two grades each year. He spoke against any measure that would reduce the forces of the police, fire, street and sanitary departments. LIFE JOB FAVORED FOR GEN. PERSHING

Washington, December 5.—Recommendation that a special bill be enacted to permit General Pershing to remain on active service after he reached the statutory retirement age next year has been forwarded by Secretary Weeks to the senate and house military committees.

"His vast fund of accumulated experience as commanding general of our armies in Europe," said Mr. Weeks' letter to the committees, "and his virile interest in our military and that in questions affecting the national defense are reactions which convince me that a great mistake will be made if the present law on the subject of retirement is allowed to bar further active military service to the nation by him."

General Pershing will celebrate his 64th birthday September 13, 1924, and under the law will pass automatically to the retired list unless there is special action by congress. The change in the law proposed by Secretary Weeks would permit General Pershing to retire at his own discretion, or to be retired at any time at the discretion of the president. Should he so desire, and should presidents in succession desire his retention on the active list, he would remain as the active general of the armies for life. Under existing law provision already has been made giving him the full salary of his rank for life and this would not be altered by his retirement for age.

STILL IS FOUND IN DRUG STORE; TWO ARE JAILED

K. A. Nix and C. W. Rebb were held in Fulton tower Wednesday, under default of $1,000 bond, following their arrest Tuesday afternoon about 2 o'clock when county officers raided Mill's drug store, 434 Capitol avenue, where they found a still hidden under an old shoe case in the rear of the store. J. H. Little, soda dispenser at the establishment, who was arrested with the pair, was released on $500 bond.

According to the officers, Rebb and Nix were in the act of connecting the apparatus of the still when surprised. The two men fled and were captured after they were dragged from beneath a house several blocks from the store.

MISTAH SPEAKAH

Parliamentary enquiry—
Or point of order, or something—

In fact, anything to get Speckah Neill to pass upon a knotty problem in parliamentary law.

Personally, the most entertaining moments in the house are when Speaker Neill is acting as referee over a stiff battle of rules and parliamentary procedure.

He seems to enjoy himself so thoroughly. Always happy, always smiling, he vigorously interprets the law in regard to the points raised, does it in a manner that no normal man could resent, and makes his decision clear, so lucid, that a six-year-old boy who couldn't follow his logic would be a fit subject for an alienist.

Incidentally, Representative Covington, of Colquitt, made an interesting point Wednesday morning. Just before adjournment, he asked for the reading of rule number something (forget the number—excuse, please). This rule requires that the members shall remain in their seats after adjournment until the speaker has left the stand, bowed to the members, etc. Judge Covington drew attention to the historical fact that this is a picturesque custom, descended to the Georgia legislature from the British parliament. It has always been the rule in Georgia, and he asked the members to remain standing at their desks until the speaker had concluded his genuflections. Which everybody did—or most everybody—and friend Codd bowed a couple of inches lower to the right and to the left, in appreciation.

The juggernaut is at last rolling within sight of its goal—adjournment. Things are happening in the legislative halls, bills are passing, bills are losing, conference committees are busy. In short, the business is being disposed of and it is becoming possible to make an intelligent guess at the remaining length of time we are going to have the delightful gentlemen from the various counties and districts in our midst. They should conclude their legislative labors by the middle of next week, at the latest. Be it said for them, that in 99.12 per cent of the individuals, it will be with genuine regret that the conductor of this column sees them depart. The other half of one per cent? Tut, tut. Leave so small a fraction unnamed.

Mistah Speckah—
More we adjourn. We'll wait for you to bow.

Safety Council Approves Traffic Bureau Plans

Indorsement for the proposed accident prevention bureau of the police department as embodied in the ordinance of Alderman Jesse Armistead was voted by the Atlanta Safety Council Wednesday afternoon, following an address by Alderman Armistead in which he outlined the object of the proposed new bureau. The ordinance will come up for passage before council this afternoon.

Mr. Armistead was the principal speaker at the meeting of the safety council in the city club. He discussed the four recently made by himself and Chief Beavers to Cleveland, Indianapolis and other cities for a study of traffic regulation, and gave his views on the best methods Atlanta can adopt to prevent street accidents. He said the creation of the safety prevention bureau will involve no changes in traffic rules at this time, but all traffic matters will be placed in the hands of the new organization, composed of a police captain and several officers, and it is probable that a new ordinance regulating automobile and other traffic will be worked out upon the recommendations of the bureau. The safety council will cooperate with Mr. Armistead, who is chairman of the police committee of council, for enforcement of existing traffic laws and in drafting improvements in the ordinances. Mr. Armistead announced his intention of joining the council and working with it in its efforts to make the streets of Atlanta safer for motorists and pedestrians.

The luncheon meeting was the most largely attended in the history of the safety council. Dr. Willis A. Sutton discussed the safety work in the public schools.

FORD SUPPORTERS JOIN IN DISCORD

Detroit, Mich., December 5.—Supporters of Henry Ford for the presidency continue to dissent violently as the best means of realizing their hopes.

The national conference of Ford supporters convened here December 3, but without much leaders in the Ford movement as the Rev. William D. Howells, head of the original Ford club, and C. W. Ford, the manufacturer's nephew.

The Rev. D. W. Howells declined either to deliver the keynote address at the convention or to attend its sessions, asserting that the meeting was premature, and should have been postponed until next spring, when "big men would have been willing to come."

BANKRUPT ACTION IS NOT JUSTIFIED, DECLARES NIXON

Augusta, Ga., December 5.—(Special.)—An answer filed in the district court of the United States Wednesday morning by attorneys W. M. Nixon, to an involuntary petition in bankruptcy brought against him the latter part of November by the Bank of Waynesboro and the National Exchange Bank of Augusta, sets up a denial that he is subject to bankruptcy for many reasons, chiefly because he is engaged in farming, and that, under the bankruptcy law, one chiefly engaged in such an occupation is not subject to involuntary bankruptcy.

Action, it was alleged, was brought by the two banks by reason of his indorsement on notes of the Hills Mixture corporation. It is alleged in the answer that the petition failed to set out the number of creditors; that the requisite number of his creditors had not joined in the petition seeking to place him in bankruptcy.

It is denied in the answer that the defendant had committed any act of bankruptcy.

SAYS BIDS ASKED ON TEAPOT DOME

Washington, December 5.—A number of prominent oil companies were requested to bid on a lease on the Teapot Dome naval oil reserve at the same time that a proposal was sought from the Sinclair interests, Dr. H. Foster Laid, director of the bureau of mines, testified today before the senate public lands committee. He declined, however, to give the names of the companies which were invited to bid.

"I understand that Secretary Fall declined to give this information when he was on the stand," Dr. Bain said. "And I would prefer not to answer since the information I have is his."

Senator Walsh, democrat, Montana, insisted on knowing whether the Gulf, Union and Texas Oil companies were in the list, and Dr. Bain replied that he personally had asked the Union Oil company.

"I have never fished an estimate of their value," said Dr. Bain, "but the Sinclair company was forced to consider their insurance value as well as their equity. This is shown by the suit the lessor now is defending against the Mutual Oil company."

Dr. Bain testified the government received about $1,400,000 from its royalty oil under the lease than would have come from prevailing prices in the field. Senator Walsh brought out that bonuses paid for separate leases of government lands in the Salt Creek field had amounted to $1,900,000 and the royalties averaged 28.76 per cent as compared with 10.12 per cent on the Sinclair lease.

The witness said the experts of the bureau were convinced of the danger of the Teapot Dome reserve being drained into the privately owned wells in the Salt Creek field.

Dr. Bain declared the Sinclair lease was "far more advantageous to the government than any other proposal received and immeasurably superior to any we could get out of a duck hunt."

"Why better than you could now get?" asked Senator Lenroot, republican, Wisconsin.

"Because of the great decrease in the amount of oil indicated to be in the reserve."

Asked by Senator Walsh the reason for leasing in December 1922, of all of reserve number one to the Doherty interests, the witness replied: "Drainage, the belief that reduced gas pressure would reduce production and expansion by the navy of its storage program."

The last statement, he said, was the largest.

Dr. Bain said he had just received an official report showing the daily production of the Salt Creek field to have decreased from 175,000 barrels in August, 1923, to 135,000 barrels at present.

Chairman Snoot put in the record a prepared analysis of operations on the New York stock exchange between January and May, 1922, which, he said, showed that all oil issues advanced in that period both in gross sales and in price.

"The freshmen, it is said, were celebrating the victory of the Washington and Jefferson football team over West Virginia. They paraded to the seminary and, according to reports, entered the dormitory by way of windows. The girls and teachers ran to their rooms and locked the doors, while the men paraded up and down the hallways, giving the yell."

Hunting Companion Of Slain Youth Held for Murder

Mobile, Ala., December 5.—Leon Layfield, 17, was today charged with the murder of Melvin Brantley, 17-year-old youth, whose body with eight bullet holes in the head, was found late Tuesday in a marsh east of the Louisville and Nashville railroad tracks north of Chickasaw bridge. Layfield was arraigned on the murder charge this morning before the recorder, held without bail and the preliminary hearing set for Friday, December 7. He has been held in prison for two weeks, since the disappearance of the Brantley boy.

The county coroner, who conducted the post-mortem on the body after it was found in the river marsh, said the death of the Brantley boy was due to gunshot wounds in the head, eight in number. Brantley, who had been in Mobile six weeks, disappeared Saturday, November 24. When Brantley failed to appear Saturday afternoon, November 24, his sister, Mrs. Moran, began an investigation. Relatives learned that young Brantley had been paid the sum of $13.50 at the plant Saturday at noon and that he was a boy to go on a duck hunt.

On the third day, when Brantley failed to appear, the arrest of Layfield followed on suspicion on the ground that he was the last person seen with Brantley and was to accompany him on the hunt. Layfield, however, has steadily contended that he was not with Brantley on the hunting trip, and when arraigned in court denied any connection with the crime. Layfield, in charge of city detectives, was taken before E. B. Meadows, a bridge tender, who swore that he was the boy seen with Brantley when they passed over the bridge. Meadows said he recognized Layfield as the companion of Brantley when they entered the marsh and said that he could not be mistaken in his identification.

JUSTICE DEPARTMENT WINDS UP CRAIG CASE

Washington, December 5.—The department of justice will wind up the contempt case of Controller Craig of New York, so far as it is concerned, within a day or two, by sending to the controller a warrant signed by President Coolidge and countersigned by Attorney-General Daugherty, announcing the remission of his sentence imposed by Federal Judge Mayer.

According to department of justice officials, this will end the matter so far as the government is concerned and if Mr. Craig is disinclined to accept the remission, there will be no authority for his incarceration, should he choose to serve the sentence.

Mrs. Elizabeth Fry was the first English woman to institute reform in the Newgate prison, London.

CROSSED ATLANTIC TO MURDER WIFE,
HE TELLS JUDGE

White Plains, N. Y., December 5.—Natalie Zucco, a laborer, crossed the Atlantic from New York to his native Italian village in 1908 to kill his wife on learning she had been faithless, he told County Judge Bleakly today when arraigned on a charge of carrying a concealed weapon.

The admission, which startled the court, came while Zucco was being questioned concerning reports that he had been arrested 38 times in this country on charges of assault to murder. Denying this, he admitted eight arrests in Italy and calmly added: "They want me over there for wife murder. A friend wrote me in 1909 that my wife had found another man. I sailed for home right away. I asked my wife if the charge was true. She said it was. So I shot her five times."

He escaped Italy, he said, by fleeing to France and from there to the United States.

Judge Bleakly said an attempt would be made to cause Zucco's deportation to Italy.

Captain of Ship Is Found Guilty In Booze Cases

Savannah, Ga., December 5.—It took the jury in federal court exactly six minutes today to bring a verdict of guilty in the case of Capt. Homer V. Evans, charged with conspiracy to violate the liquor laws, his case having been severed from the cases of five other indicted on the specific charge of conspiracy. Capt. Evans is said to have commanded the victor, a vessel which is alleged to have brought many cargoes of whiskey to Savannah, unloading to smaller craft for truck transportation to hiding places near the city in the neighborhood of St. Catherine's Sound.

The Marion, another boat, also was brought into the testimony as having brought in cargoes of booze. For ten days the federal court has tried conspiracy cases with every defendant to date, about thirty-five, in the five or six cases, either convicted or pleading guilty. Four defendants in all pleaded guilty. Five defendants were convicted yesterday, five more today and other cases will be tried immediately following.

Concluding the cases in hand court will recess on December 15 and again open on January 6 for other business, which will consume more than the rest of next month.

TENTH A. & M. SCHOOL SESSION IN SUMMER

Sparta, Ga., December 5.—(Special.)—State School Superintendent N. H. Ballard, has announced that the Tenth District A. & M. school, located near here, had been designated as one of the schools of the state to hold a summer session the coming summer. This school, he stated, would share in the $20,000 appropriation made for the schools of the state to hold a summer session the coming summer. This school, he stated, would share in the $20,000 appropriation made for the schools of the state to hold a summer session the coming summer. This school, he stated, would share in the $20,000 appropriation made for the schools of the state to hold a summer session the coming summer.

That the prediction some days ago that the campaign for rounding up alleged conspirators will take in several cities, many coast states and even foreigners in the east is corroborated by the fact that today Captain Erroll Johnson, master and owner of the British auxiliary schooner, "Mystery," arrested in Miami yesterday was brought to Savannah under charges of complicity in rum running and in addition to smuggling liquor into the United States. Capt. Johnson's name was mentioned in the recent Hear cases, which were prominent among the number in the series now being concluded. The British commander and ship owner after detention for some hours was released upon making bond of $25,000.

The Glorious Redemption of a Fallen Woman

"We were married last night—don't you remember"—the girl gazed at him from hollow eyes.

He recognized her as Lydia, a notorious habituée of a more notorious road-house and his fragmentary memory of the wild party of the night before told him what she said was true.

Son of three generations of drunkards, he had inherited all of his forebears love for drink.

But it was not until his faith in life had been shattered by the woman whom he loved and trusted most in all the world, that he had cast pride and self-respect aside and become a slave to drink, headed for a drunkard's grave.

And now it had come to this—married in a drunken orgy to Lydia, a woman of the streets.

"What are you going to do?" she asked dully. He drew out two one hundred dollar bills—all the money he had in the world.

"I'm going to buy a ticket to the jumping off place," he said bitterly. "Drink myself to death. The doctor gave me a year but two hundred dollars ought to hasten the job."

He turned toward the door. She did not move. He looked at her again.

"What are you going to do?" he asked. "I don't know," she said slowly. He offered her one of the bills. "I'll share what I have with you," he said. "That," he laughed bitterly, "or I'll buy two tickets to the jumping off place if you say so. We might drink ourselves to death together."

She eyed him curiously. "You'd let me go along with you?" she asked slowly. He laughed again. "I'm hell-bound, woman," he cried bitterly. "I've a date with the devil. What do I care who comes along?" "All right," she said suddenly "make it two."

Would you believe, would anyone believe, that out of this unutterably sordid beginning grew one of the most beautiful and uplifting romances that you have read in all your life—a story of the regeneration of two souls, of undying love, self-sacrifice—and victory—a story that proves that the dividing line between good and bad is so finely drawn that to point an accusing finger is always to risk doing a grave injustice—a glorious story of love and loyalty that forever establishes as a great moral truth the popular verse—

"There is so much bad in the best of us
And so much good in the worst of us,
That it ill behooves any of us
To talk about the rest of us."

If your life has been laid down in pleasant places, if happiness has been your lot "Love's White Flame" in True Story Magazine for January will give you a happy thrill that two other mortals should be able to achieve happiness in the face of such sordidness and misery. And if, as in the case of most of us, life has brought you sorrow and trouble and worry—if at times happiness seems very far away, then this glorious story of happiness snatched from the teeth of almost certain wreck and ruin and death will give you cheer and hope such as no other story ever did. Never in all his writings did O. Henry create out of his imagination, a story having more power to pull upon your heart-strings than this story taken straight from life.

DEADLOCK BROKEN.

The insurgents in the house of representatives won a complete victory in their first fight on the floor.

They opposed Representative Gillett, of Massachusetts, the republican caucus nominee for speaker, until a revision of the rules was made to their entire satisfaction.

For four days they blocked the election of Gillett, and the majority finally conceded to every demand of the little group. It then demanded that the concessions be publicly announced, so that there could be no side-stepping. This was done. And then, and not until then, did the Massachusetts member get the majority over all necessary to an election.

As it is, with a majority of seven, the house is organized and today the president's message will be delivered.

The Gillett vote shows the critical situation in the house, so far as party lines are concerned. It shows the significance of the "bloc" movement, and the real menace of any radically inclined group that holds the balance of power, as does the La Follette group in the senate, and the Nelson group in the house.

Representative Nelson is from Wisconsin, and is a follower of La Follette.

The situation accentuates the necessity for the conservative representatives of the two major parties in congress to work unitedly for constructive economic legislation without regard to party advantages in 1924.

If the "balance of power" groups are traded with they will not only demand but get more than the pound of flesh, and the country will suffer.

Speaker Gillett, who served in that capacity in the 67th congress, is fair and just, administering the office in a judicial capacity, and in strict conformance to parliamentary rights. He made a strong and favorable impression with the democrats in the last congress for his uniform justice in all of his rulings.

RIVERS AND HARBORS.

The Mississippi Valley association recently concluded a most important agreement at Memphis, at which it consented to get vigorously behind a $60,000,000 river and harbor program for 1924. "The Mississippi and Ohio rivers, and all of the waterways along the south Atlantic seaboard," are included, it is said. The proposed schedule is not yet available, so that remains to be seen.

The Atlantic Deepwater Waterways association held a convention at Norfolk recently at which the program specifically for improving waterways along the Atlantic coast was formulated.

These two associations, both of which are strong in membership and in the influential positions of the officers, will, it is assured, coordinate their activities, and the proposal is to go after congress in a systematic but vigorous manner.

It is obvious that the time has come for renewed governmental activity in waterways development. For several years there has been just enough maintenance work to keep the larger navigable waters open, but no new projects and no further development of scores of incomplete projects that were undertaken before the war.

By reason of this situation the farmers of the country have suffered serious losses not only by reason of inadequate transportation, but high costs. This condition can only be met by renewing activity in water transportation.

But any waterway development legislation must be general and not sectional in its character.

It is well known that in the past the great inland waterways of the southeast have been almost entirely neglected, while billions of dollars have been spent in other sections on projects of less merit.

Just enough investments have been made in south Atlantic harbor improvements, for instance, to keep the situation from becoming a national scandal.

Take the great St. Lawrence canal, for which a great organization is maintained, including systematic propaganda departments. It has its merits; but there is no canal project in America that means so much to all of the producing states east of the Rocky Mountains as the proposed St. Marys-St. Marks canal, which would bring a navigable outlet of the Mississippi river to the Atlantic at Cumberland sound.

It is a project of international importance for it would revolutionize the exportation of wheat and cotton. Let that be in the program, certainly for a substantial beginning.

Take the Altamaha river system. The people of the southeast will never agree to a waterway program that does not include making navigable these rivers that reach, with their tributaries, into the very heart of the agricultural southeast.

We want waterway developments, but we want them fair to the south.

It is time to begin. But southern members of congress should watch any attempt to concentrate upon the Mississippi and Ohio, or any other section, at the expense of other projects of the greatest merit pleading for development.

The programs of reconstruction in every nation that was in the world war, even Germany, include as one of the paramount undertakings the development of new waterways.

England is building large canals in India, costing seven million pounds, and Germany is building a canal to connect the Rhine with the Danube and the Black Sea. France and even Russia are beginning tremendous water transportation developments.

Surely America, more able than any of the nations to go ahead with the work, will not allow the "pork barrel" clap-net of a few politicians to stand in the way of so great an economic necessity as providing more adequate water transportation; provided the program is a fair and just one.

THE THUNDER OF SILENCE.

Senator Hiram Johnson, who needs no introduction, is about to go on the road again, and like Cassio of old, he will doubtless be "high in oath" in his remarks to the electorate.

There are those who would have President Coolidge forego his policy of determined reticence. They would force him, forsooth, to stomp the country in his own behalf. They would have him meet Hiram face to face, and then and there engage him in a battle of words. Those who propose such a course are not placing a high enough value on President Coolidge's one great weapon—the thunder of silence.

Before many days have passed, the president will have to say several things, and he will have to say them well if he expects to be the republican nominee for president next fall—but what he has to say will be said in his own way—and he has a wonderful way of using his pen to great advantage. He will not make the mistake of entering a joint debate with Hiram, or with anybody else. He will not play directly into the "other fellow's hand." He knows the advantage of silence at the right time, and he knows just when and just how to break that silence. That is his strong point, and it appeals to the people, who are tired of the everlasting sounding of political toms.

The president knows that his place is in the white house, and that with the exception of his official communications to the public, through congress, his choicest weapon is the thunder of silence.

One good thing about old King Tut—he tried to hide his gold! so his family wouldn't have to go to law about it.

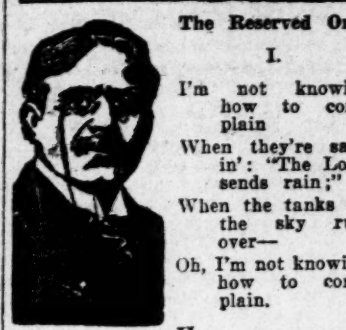

Even the earnest appeals of the postal authorities can't keep the Santa Claus children from swamping them with mail.

In his column of pleasanties, in the Houston Post, Colonel George Bailey says: "Oddie McIntyre, a corn-bread and pork-chop product of Missouri, got broke to New York in fifteen years. We, a Texas hawk, got broke in New York in one week!"

By reason of this situation the

SPLIT MILK.

There is one good reason why you should not worry too much about split milk. There is grave danger that you too soon forget why you spilled it!

We are a breed of mistakes. We staidly keep a record of the imperfect world made up of imperfect conditions and imperfect human beings.

A child stumbles, but usually picks itself up good naturedly and goes on. It doesn't understand that the reason for its stumbling is unattained strength.

But we understand that when we have made a mistake or stumbled we did so largely because we were not strong.

It is never worth while to cry over split milk. You can't gather it up again. But you can start milking again. You can hunt up another cow and get busy.

The worrying is worse than the milk that is gone. Remember that. Our characters are greatly weakened by too many interruptions. I have known many strong characters and I have noticed this one thing about them—they are very prone to blunder and mistake. But the stronger the characters, the less attention they pay to their mistakes.

They grow from lessons learned. Life should start anew with the oncoming of every fresh day. You shouldn't carry your yesterday into today.

The good housewife continually works toward an orderly and neat home.

You must remember that each new day is an opportunity to start all over again, to clean your mind and heart anew and to clarify your vision.

Do not clutter up today with the loadings of other days.

Whole Country Watching Action on State Bill

Editor Constitution: You spoke more than the truth in your timely editorial today when you stated that the "senate acted wisely" in refusing to concur in the income tax bill as a 5 per cent on gross income.

I happen to know that one of the largest textile manufacturing concerns in the United States is making arrangements to build and operate one of its units in the south and is giving Georgia the preference for location, but they are daily watching the action of the legislature, and will not come until the matter of taxes is settled sanely, justly and permanently, as this is a matter of vital importance in cost and overhead and a great many of our law-makers do not seem able to get this fact through their skull.

Great things are in store for the big development of Georgia, but wise manufacturers are not going to locate in a state where the laws are always in a state of uncertainty.

A TENDERFOOT IN MEXICO

BY O. O. MCINTYRE

On a Mexican Ranch, December 5. The most beautiful thing I have seen in Mexico so far is the sunrise. I was awakened at 6 o'clock by the gobble of turkeys. It was the first flash of dawn and I sat at a window for an hour watching the marvelous colorings.

There was a stir of life in the mud and straw huts. Soon the Mexican cowboys were leaping into the saddles to be off on the range. A weaning calf bawled lustily for its mother. Mike was on the porch, aiming his gun for the prospect of deer.

The ranch is about 15 times the size of Manhattan island. It is one of the finest in Mexico. After piping hot breakfast we drove over to see a huge herd of Brahman cattle, kitchen and is thoroughly domesticated as the gentlest of house dogs.

After another 20 miles ride we came upon a herd of wild horses. One had even got the foot of the saddle. The leader was a magnificent sorrel stallion. It was curious to watch how they circled about the leader and when he gave a sudden plunge they were off with him like a flash.

Before starting, Raymond had "diked" me out in cowboy habitude. I wore boots, chaps, blue flannel shirt, spurs, wide hat and the whole outfit strapped to my waist and a bandanna handkerchief knotted at my throat. The boots were to protect me from rattlesnakes. Pleasant idea that. Each ranchman carries his first aid rattlesnake kit. Often we could hear them hissing ominously in the brush.

The Mexican cowboy's hut or jacal is amazingly primitive. I visited Juan in his. The floor is of dirt. Not a nail is used in the construction and although the roof is of mud and straw, it withstands the heaviest summer rains. The furniture consists of a skillet, a bag of friole beans and green peppers, a small pallet for slumber and his saddle. The guest sits cross-legged and yet despite the surroundings one is impressed by the warmth of hospitality.

We arrived too late at a corral to attend a "branding." I am rather glad. I am supersensitive to animal suffering. In fact I was so concerned we missed the coyote. They told of one brander that day who, when he applied the white hot iron, was greeted with an unusual howl of pain. He yelled at the calf: "Don't lie to me, you will run away!" Poor comedy.

The Mexican peon is rather ingenious in his attire. His sandals are fashioned out of his abandoned automobile tires. He makes his sombrero of dried grass and his trousers and shirts are amazing tributes to the art of successive patching. There is a bovine placidity to his expression. He appears to be standing about waiting and waiting for God to know what they carry wooden swords and guns in the same manner a child clings to his toys.

Bill told me he had run into a relative of mine over near one of the windmills. He had the driver's head over the wheel. When we came to the top of the hill we were greeted by a braying Mexican jackass.

THE WORLD'S WINDOW

BY PIERRE VAN PAASEN.

"Feelings Lie Buried."

Cosmos tell us that the human race is lying all sentiment, that in a world of materialism there is no room for the higher things of life. But just read what little Mary Curran, of New York, does. Mary was going to a dancing class. She was only 8 years old. One small tot, who had come to the academy for her first lesson, walks too close to an open fireplace with result that her flimsy clothing catches fire. While grown persons in the hall were momentarily paralyzed by shock, Mary dashed out and used known child and pulled off the burning clothing only to have her own clothes burst into flame. She was taken to the hospital, conscious, but terribly burned. Her last question was whether the unknown girl was all right. The other child had run from the hall, apparently uninjured, without leaving her name. Greater love hath no man—

Gum and Books.

For every dollar spent on books in this country there are twenty-seven dollars spent on gum. Do we give our jaw more than our brains? Of course books are more permanent, but it looks as if the gum manufacturers understood the public taste better than the book publishers. There ought to be satisfaction in this condition for the reformers. Gum chewing for contentment, reading for the mind, and a woman with a head full of ideas may require the attention of the censor, but not the person with a mouth full of gum.

Ready To Forgive And To Be Forgiveness.

The soviet government has sent some representatives to the all-Russian congress of scientists. The savants will be asked to forget the past and to join with everybody else in the reconstruction of Russia. How this plea will be taken by the intellectuals is hard to say. It is a pathetic plea. It comes from the same man who massacred and killed the brain-workers of the country in the name of the revolution. But now that communism is receding the savants are asked to forget the past and to do what they can do to help the dreadful mistakes by their own repentant persecutors.

Work Rebuilt Belgium, Not Hypothetical Reparations.

Premier Thémis, of Belgium, has given the world a good example of the reconstruction of his country. We did not wait for reparations—we went to work. "The politicians of Lloyd George to Clemenceau made grandiose promises—we have since learned that they meant nothing. I don't know if they are to be paid in full. But America gave us food and credit, that was the help we wanted." The result has been that Belgium has been restored, 1,500 railway stations have been rebuilt, coal production is higher than before the war, 100,000 destroyed houses have been replaced, blast furnaces are running two-thirds of their pre-war capacity, trade is good and in contrast with Holland and England, there is no unemployment. The secret of the whole thing is—work.

Cupid Triumphs.

One of the social phenomena created by the earthquake and loss of life in Japan is the yearning of young men to possess a life's companion. Deprived of all social comforts the young men commence to turn to honor for consolation and police. Girls with some source of professional income are the most welcome. Even women with children are finding ready chances of marriage as they have some professional skill in helping the husband finance the new home. At a recent centennial festival in the gardens of the imperial palace a great crowd turned out and there was plenty of fun. Some of the latest fashions in Tokyo have also opened up again.

An English Moslem.

Lord Headley, only Moslem peer in the house of lords, has returned from his pilgrimage to the shrines at Mecca and the other holy places of Islam. Lord Headley is not, as may be readily imagined, a native of the foreign dominion, but of old Welsh descent, whose ancestors were converted to the religion of Mohammed while taking part in a crusade under Richard Coeur de Lion. It is strange to hear a Briton speak of Mohammed as the blessed prophet, of having walked seven times around the Kaaba and then to have kissed it, to have run seven times between two mounds near the grand mosque, and to have then to have kissed the water in the desert for her son, Ismail, the father of the Arabs. It seems strange because the cold phlegm of a British mind is so far removed from the fiery, fantastic mental make-up of the Mussulman.

England and France Heading for Crisis Again.

The next British-France crisis is already looming on the horizon. The English are in the midst of an election campaign and the Germans are floundering in their efforts to agree on a cabinet. Now what has happened in the Ruhr lately practically amounts to this: The German industrialists like Schindler, Thyssen and Krupp have signed a separate peace with the French. They have gone over the head of the Berlin government in this matter. The German government has protested that move and the British have supported the protest, while the French have refused to deal with the Poincaré-Stinnes deal. They will have to untangle this skein: They must at one and the same time preserve their rights and not let the cars collect while refusing to sanction the methods he uses to collect.

Jews Must Apply Their Talents to Culture.

Dr. Louis Ginzberg, Jewish savant educator, comes to the United States to lecture on the Jewish people in this country to establish a cultural center. Ninety per cent of the Jewish population come from the East. But where are our Hermann Cohens, our Beres, our Einsteins, our Jacques Louchs and our Michelsons in America? The Jews of America must make their mark in the world, he said. No race in the world has clearer and keener intellect than the Jews. Centuries of oppression and life in ghettos have made them rely largely on their wits. If they turn from commerce to science, to literature, to States they will, like they have done everywhere else, take the lead.

Income Tax Expert Says the Troubles Exist in Statutes

Editor Constitution: I am sure our politicians misjudge the people in believing that Georgians want to "work the rich." The people are not so stupid, and also they have sense enough to know that the rich can take care of themselves, and that unfair tax laws cause us borrowers to suffer, not the rich. I don't know if the origin will ever be reached, but I do know that the large foreign element in some sections of the country, probably it was thought expedient to tax the rich man out of production, and force his money into tax free securities, but there is no such thing as a free lunch.

No posted man can doubt that a straight federal tax of four per cent on income would bring in more money to the government and free hundreds of millions of dollars out of tax exempt securities into loans and industrial activity.

The inequities of the federal tax are not the administration, but in the enactment of the tax. From a very intimate knowledge of the administration of the income tax laws, resulting from my work in that line and frequent conferences in Washington, I know the greater effort is made to administer those laws fairly, and with a minimum of hardship. True, occasionally some new revenue man is a misfit, as will happen in any big organization employing many men, but such men don't stay in the service long. All the entanglements and hardships so much complained of are in the statutes themselves, while the treasury department is bound to follow until congress makes different provision.

Another word on note taxation being the same. From a farm and giving for it my note, there is no more property in existence really, but if notes, which are merely the representative of value, are taxed, then the farmer is taxed as much as value as there was ten minutes before the transaction.

Again, if the bank lends a thousand dollars to a farmer, and the farmer lets his five tenants have it, two hundred dollars each, then, according to bolshevik reasoning, the money is to be taxed in the hands of the tenants, the tenants' notes to the farmer are taxed against him, his note to the bank is taxed against the bank, and the thousand dollars is again taxed against the depositor. This is not an extreme case, but just such as happens here, and probably throughout the state every year. We ought to be brave enough to enact into law that notes and accounts, representatives of property, are not taxable property—at any rate whatever.

KILL OR CURE.

According to a recent story the big chief of one of our industrial corporations has a contract with his physician, by the terms of which he pays the physician an annually increasing retainer for keeping him well and makes deductions from the doctor's annual retainer for any time lost by illness. This is important, if true; it naturally brings up again two associated ideas. The first is the idea that they do this very thing habitually in China, pay the doctor a regular stipend as long as he keeps him well, but dock the doctor when they fall ill.

This idea, like a good many other accidental ideas about oriental life, are not true. I know because I've asked several laundrymen about it and they all laughed. No doubt they'd like to hang some such arrangement on the doctors in China, but it isn't done. The second idea suggested by the trust magnate's alleged "oriental contract" with his doctor is that no such arrangement can ever become popular in America, because it would be not only inequitable but unethical. It would be unethical for the same reason that it is unethical and disreputable for a doctor to "guarantee" to cure anything. An honest doctor simply cannot guarantee to cure anything except the ways of Providence are not under his control.

And by the same token a doctor who is worth consulting at all certainly would not accept any such terms as the yarn tells us this big manufacturer has hung on his doctor's tail. The doctor for any illness which befalls the client. Is the doctor, then, willing to acknowledge that he is to blame for any illness which does befall? It would be not only unethical but just plain unwise for a doctor to enter such a deal. Remember the story of the shrewd Irishman who persuaded a doctor to attend his wife for a lump sum "kill or cure"? When the woman died the man failed to pay the sum agreed upon. When the doctor sued, the man placed the doctor on the witness stand and asked whether he was prepared to swear he cured the woman. Of course not. Well, then, was the doctor prepared to swear he had killed the woman? The doctor said no. The yarn about the big industrialist is not a total loss, however. It has no doubt served a useful purpose. This particular story probably planted in many minds the thought of having some sort of keep well supervision, some kind of periodic overhauling by an expert, something akin to health insurance, if there is such a thing to be had. Had the yarn been woven without the oriental touch it would have been a dead end. It was the notion of punishing the doctor for the sins of the client that sold the yarn. And I'm going to plant a series of talks like the tail to a kite on the question of purchasing individual health assurances while the thing is in the air.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS. All Bound Round With Silk and Wool.

My son aged 19 months is still cutting teeth and I am writing to ask whether he should still wear a silk and wool band and a silk and wool shirt. Some say a wool or flannel band, others cotton, others advise a cotton and wool mixture (one-fourth wool) for the shirt.—(B. B.)

Answer—A baby ordinarily needs no band after the second or third week. Silk and wool, or cotton and wool, for under-shirt is fine for the winter time. Of course he is still cutting teeth; if he is a normal youngster he will keep right on cutting them for about 18 years. But what has that to do with the baby's shirt? I wonder?

My husband has what you call a floating cartilage in his knee. He had an X-ray taken and it showed a piece of the cartilage between the tibia and femur. He has had water on the knee a couple of times. Do you think it is safe to operate on the knee to take the pieces out? Would it leave a stiff knee?—(Mrs. P. K.)

Answer—There is no other permanent relief but operation. Nowadays it is safe to open the knee joint. The loose cartilage is removed or properly anchored, and there need be no fear of a stiff knee.

Another Point of Your Letter in which you tell me that the specialist, Dr. ————, is a humbug. Now can you tell me how I can expose him and get back the money I have sent him for his treatments?—(D. G. C.)

Answer—No! The government permits 'em to use the mail. (Copyright, 1923, for The Constitution.)

Who invented the treadmill? Originally, the Chinese, who used it for raising water for field irrigation. As formerly used in British prisons, it was the invention of Sir William Cubitt, of Ipswich, and the first machine was erected in Brixton jail in 1817.

What is Boyle's law? The law in physics that at any given temperature the volume of a given mass of gas varies inversely as the pressure which it bears. It was discovered by Robert Boyle and published by him about 1662.

How much water should a person drink a day? The generally accepted theory among physicians is that one should consume about two quarts of liquid a day, at least half of which should be water.

What is the origin of the word "hothead"? It is supposed to be derived from the Alaskan-Indian word "hocheino," the name of a very strong native drink.

Did Hannibal cross the Alps? Did he conquer Rome? In the year 218 B. C. The city of Rome was not taken or even besieged by Hannibal, though he held a great part of Italy and ravaged the country. Did Ethiopia ever rule the world? No, but towards the eighth century B. C. Egypt, the greatest civilization of that time, fell under the sway of an Ethiopian dynasty.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of chronic coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, catarrhal bronchitis and other forms of throat and lung diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or the flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold, no matter how long standing, is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist, Creomulsion Co., Atlanta, Ga.—(adv.)

SCHOOL OFFICIALS MUST BE QUALIFIED

Prospective candidates for positions of county school superintendents in Georgia must have a certificate of qualification from the state board of education, according to an announcement being sent out by State Superintendent of Schools N. H. Ballard.

The law, according to the superintendent, sets forth the following requirements for persons desiring to be county school superintendents:

"Have at least three years practical experience in teaching and hold a first grade high school license, or, 'Have a diploma from a literary college or normal school, or, 'Have five years' experience in actual supervision of schools (this means superintendent of a county or independent system of schools), or, 'Stand an approved examination before the state board of education as to his qualification."

In making application for certificate, a prospective candidate should send evidence of the class under which he desires to qualify. Mr. Ballard said: "For instance, a graduate of a literary college should send a certificate from the president or registrar of that college showing that he is a graduate, and year of graduation," he explained. "Also, in each case, full details of experience in teaching or supervision should be given, and sent to the regular school official."

"All applications other than those of candidates for the office of county school superintendent should be sent to the office before January 15, 1924, so that if the candidate could not qualify under the heading upon which his application was made, he could take the examination later."

Examinations will be held for applicants at the following places on January 26: Atlanta, Rome, Gainesville, Athens, Augusta, Macon, Columbus, Milledgeville, Waycross, Dublin, Savannah and Sparta.

Reynolds Balances on Edge of American Bank Roof.

In full view of thousands thronging the streets below, Daredevil Johnny Reynolds, equilibrium artist, appeared at Keith's Forsyth the first half of this week, and during the performance, performed a balancing act on the edge of the American Bank building roof.

Perched atop of four tables and two chairs Reynolds swayed dangerously in the high winds, going through his act apparently without the slightest nervousness. His performance was scheduled for Tuesday afternoon but owing to inclement weather was postponed.

Casting Is Begun For Community Christmas Show

Casting for parts in the Community Christmas pageant, "The Light of the World," began Wednesday afternoon when groups from the five high schools met with Mrs. Earle Sherwood Jackson in the city auditorium for a preliminary reading and discussion of the program. Students and graduates from Girls' High, Boys' High, Tech High, Commercial and Fulton High pledged support to the plans for the "biggest community Christmas Atlanta has ever known."

New impetus was given the undertaking Wednesday afternoon when the Fulton county commissioners endorsed the movement and voted to actively join with Mayor Sims and city council in supporting the plans.

Since 1916, when under auspices of the Atlanta Woman's club, the pageant was first presented, the community Christmas has been an institution in Atlanta.

This year there will be only two performances—one on Sunday, December 30, and another on New Year's day. Both performances will take place in the afternoon. The first rehearsal will be held at 2:30 o'clock Sunday afternoon in the city auditorium. All those who have participated in former pageants or who wish to have a part in this year's celebration, are invited to attend.

City Organist Charles Sheldon has cancelled his usual Sunday afternoon concert in order to make way for the rehearsal.

BERRIEN APPEAL DENIED BY COURT; MUST SERVE TERM

R. N. Berrien, former Atlanta broker, who was sentenced in Fulton superior court to serve a term of from three to five years, upon conviction of misappropriating county school funds, was denied a hearing of his case by the Georgia court of appeals in a ruling handed down Wednesday.

Berrien was indicted on several charges of unlawful use of school funds in the amount of $43,000 for liquidating private debts. He was tried on one of the indictments in the Fulton superior court and sentenced to three years in prison. He has been at liberty on bond for the last two years, while his appeal for removal was pending with the state court of appeals.

Two months ago Berrien was arrested in Atlanta on the charge of misappropriating county funds. He was held in the Fulton superior court, where he had established a brokerage office. He was surrendered by his bondsmen, one of whom was his sister, a practicing attorney in Washington, D. C., and is now in the Fulton tower.

AGED WOMAN DIES AT HOME OF DAUGHTER

Mrs. Ellis died at the residence of her daughter, Mrs. H. M. Vaux, at 11 o'clock Wednesday morning. She was the widow of the late Dr. H. J. Ellis, who was chaplain of the Georgia house of representatives for many years. She was a long-time member of the Druid Hills Methodist church, and widely known and loved in this section.

ATLANTA METHODIST MINISTERS REORGANIZE

Methodist ministers of Atlanta in session at Wesley Memorial church Monday morning reorganized by electing the presiding elders of the two Atlanta districts joint chairmen. Rev. W. T. Hunnicutt, new presiding elder of the South Atlanta district, presided at the meeting. Rev. Jesse W. Ventch, pastor of the Epworth Methodist church, was re-elected secretary and Rev. Z. Tyler of Oakland City Methodist church was named assistant secretary.

A banquet in honor of new pastors of the city was planned and will be given at Wesley Memorial church next Monday at seven o'clock, to which all ministers are invited. Supper and entertainment will be the guests of the evening.

NEW CLASS ORGANIZED AT TECH HIGH SCHOOL

A new class in commercial art and design has been added to the Tech High night school, and had its first meeting Monday night. This class will meet three nights each week, Monday, Tuesday and Thursday nights, from 7 to 9 o'clock, on the third floor of the building at 273 Marietta street.

Tuition is free for this training, and it offers an excellent opportunity for any one interested in art work, school authorities stated.

CRUELTY IS CHARGED TO SCHOOL TEACHERS

Removal of Mrs. J. W. Rogers, principal, and her husband, who is a teacher, and her assistant in the R. J. Quinn County school, was asked in a petition signed by nine patrons of the school and filed with the county board of education Wednesday.

The petition charges that both the teachers have been guilty of cruel treatment to pupils of the school, and that their general behavior has caused many pupils to be withdrawn from the school.

This is the second petition within the last few months to have Mr. and Mrs. Rogers removed from the Quinn school, the other petition having met with adverse action from the school board when it was filed last spring. The new petition threatens the board with court action if the two teachers are not removed.

Superintendent of County Schools J. W. Simmons stated Wednesday that the petition would probably be brought before the board at its next regular meeting, December 20. The petition was served on the school board by Attorney Aldine Chambers.

POLICE DECLARE PICKPOCKET WAR FOR CHRISTMAS

Chief of Police James L. Beavers and Plainclothes Lieutenant Sturdivant sounded a warning Wednesday to all citizens of Atlanta to be on the alert for pickpockets and snatch thieves. According to police reports, a band of pickpockets is working in Atlanta. In the last three or four days three arrests have been made, while numerous complaints have come to headquarters.

Following an arrest came Wednesday when George Brown, giving his address as Philadelphia, was taken into custody and is alleged by police to have been carrying a large pocket. G. L. Gordon, of New York, was arrested Monday on a similar charge, and George Robertson, of Greensboro, Ga., was captured after a thrilling chase through the downtown streets Saturday.

Gordon was the victim of his arrest in an automobile which police declare he stole in New York. He is being held under a charge of pocket-picking and larceny of an automobile.

Conference Plans Will Be Discussed At Meeting Friday

A meeting of members of the registration committee of the Young People's conference, to be held in this city in January, will be held Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the First Methodist church, according to announcement Wednesday by Raymond Lake, chairman of the committee. Registrars are also asked to meet with committee members, it was stated.

Registrars are asked to bring a complete report of registrations up to date from his or her church, and inasmuch as several churches have signed up the first of delegates according to Chairman Lake, it is hoped to get a definite estimate of the members to attend.

Many matters of importance concerning plans for the mid-winter conference will be discussed, and members of the committee, registrars, and others interested are asked to attend, Mr. Lake announced.

Brodrick Pensioned After Long Service With His Company

After 20 years' service with the company, J. R. Brodrick, of the Atlanta office of Fairbanks-Morse company, has been retired on pension in recognition of his long period of service with the organization. Mr. Brodrick opened the branch office of the company here in 1908.

Mr. Brodrick will leave January 1 to spend the rest of the winter in Florida.

SAFE RESISTS YEGGS Even Postmaster Can't Open Strong Box Now.

The combination knob on the postoffice safe at 777 William street, which was broken off by yeggs in an attempt to enter the strong box Tuesday night, according to a report received in Atlanta Wednesday by Postoffice Inspector in Charge Joe P. Johnston from Sheriff A. J. Walton, of Putnam county, could not be opened by Pearson to open the safe Wednesday were in vain, but it was presumed that his contents were unharmed.

Flogging Victim Sought on Charge Brought by Wife

Armed with a warrant issued after an indictment was returned by the Fulton county grand jury charging desertion of his wife and three children, deputy sheriffs, county police and city officers instituted a search Wednesday for S. H. Morton, who, with Mrs. Bertha Holcombe, of Atlanta, recently reported having been flogged by a band of masked men near Mrs. Holcombe's home, which was then in Smyrna.

Mrs. Morton, who now resides at Douglas, appeared before the grand jury Tuesday and gave evidence that resulted in her husband's indictment on charges of desertion. She is said to have testified that her husband left home several months ago with the declared intention of taking a tuberculosis cure.

Charges against six young men arrested in connection with the alleged flogging of Morton and his companion were dropped when a Cobb county jury acquitted the first to go on trial. Morton did not appear at the trial, and has not been located by interested authorities since then.

J. M. B. Hoxsey Speaks To Social Workers On Community Chest

J. M. B. Hoxsey, vice president of the Southern Bell Telephone company, was guest of honor at the luncheon of the Social Workers' club in the rooms of the Y. W. C. A. Wednesday.

Miss Irma Finley, secretary of the Y. W. C. A., credited Mr. Hoxsey with the adoption of the Community Chest method in Atlanta.

Miss Finley said there had been mile posts from time to time indicating definite accomplishment in Atlanta's social welfare program, but that none had represented so definite and advanced a forward step as the adoption of the Community Chest idea.

Mr. Hoxsey pointed out some of the high points that in his opinion social workers would do well to watch in order to keep the Community Chest a helpful agency in the social program of Atlanta.

The future of this work depends largely on the interest that the whole public feels in it. Mr. Hoxsey declared. He recommended that an attempt be made to devise some means whereby the agencies can maintain their contact with the public, now that they can no longer solicit funds separately.

Groom Is Jailed For Burglarizing Home of Bride

Eugene J. Lavigne today is preparing to spend his honeymoon on the chaise longue, while his bride, the other principal in a jail marriage, is back with her stepfather whose Carver park home Lavigne confessed to robbing.

The young Lochinvar of the front porch was also the Jimmy Valentine of the side window of K. W. Keadle's home, police said.

Lavigne admitted that after pressing a lover's kiss to his sweetheart's lips he returned to the scene hours later in the role of a burglar and stole a number of articles from his prospective father-in-law.

Lavigne sought the forgiveness of his sweetheart, Miss Lucile Bradley, while awaiting trial and she replied with a visit to the prison cell in Fulton tower and an agreement to an immediate marriage.

In court Wednesday the prisoner, his ride and her father, the man from whom Lavigne had stolen, sat together and heard Judge G. H. Howard sentence the prisoner to 18 months on the chaise longue.

"When you are free I shall be waiting," said the bride as she kissed her convict husband farewell at the jail door.

Your Record Is There!

A HAPPY home, a lovely wife, joyous children, and the means to care for them, this is the fulfillment of man's existence. And the record of how well each man succeeds in attaining this fulfillment, is contained in his bank book.

Each man inscribes his record for himself. Line by line, page by page, slowly, tediously perhaps, is the record made. Every line written in a bank book is a result of toil, of self-sacrifice, of perseverance and strength of character; but the more he writes, the easier it is to write, and in the latter pages of the book he suddenly finds SUCCESS has written itself!

But there is another book. It is called Life's Mistakes, and its pages are filled with pitiful stories of poverty and misery—the result of thoughtless living and money carelessly spent.

In which book is your record to be found? Are you filling the pages of "Life's Mistakes," or are you conscientiously hewing line after line in the solid record of a bank book?

CLAIRE FRYE IS ELECTED PRESIDENT OF "T" CLUB

Claire Frye, center on the Georgia Tech football team for the past three years, was elected president of the "T" club at a meeting held yesterday. Felton McConnell, guard on the team, was named vice president and Fred Moore, a halfback, was selected as secretary.

The "T" club is an organization composed of all athletes at Tech who have been awarded letters in major sports. The club has the power to award letters to all athletes, upon the recommendation of Coach Alexander.

Twenty-four men, who played in varsity football games during the past season, were recommended for letters at the meeting yesterday, but action was deferred until today.

It was decided by the club to hold the annual football banquet at the Capital City club on the night of December 14. The men that are to be awarded letters will be presented with sweaters, gold footballs and "T's." The seniors on the squad will be presented with gold cuff links, while retiring Captain John McIntyre will be presented with a ring by the athletic association.

Basketball practice was further held up yesterday on account of the bad weather and the inability of the coaches to find an indoor court.

Uniforms have already been issued to the candidates, but due to the fact that the basketball court is outdoors, practice has been delayed. Every effort is being made by the coaches and officials at Tech to locate an indoor court to be used during inclement weather.

Prospects are bright for the indoor Tornado again this year. Many letter men are back and ready for the season's grind.

Tech's Grid Squad Is Merry At Joe Rhodes' Good Party

ANNUAL AFFAIR AGAIN A RARE TREAT

BY PAUL WARWICK.

Joe Rhodes, genial host and jolly good fellow any old way you please to take him, was host Wednesday night to the Georgia Tech football squad, that gang who were a fighting flock a few days back but who now are just quiet, dignified students at a technological school.

These parties out at Joe Rhodes' house are annual affairs, and this correspondent can now understand with full and hearty appreciation why we have always heard that they are events looked forward to from the time one has ended with general reluctance until the other has begun with much handshaking and good-fellowship.

Whole Gang There.

The whole gang was there—with the exception of little Jerry Albright, kept away by a combination of broken leg and exceedingly inclement weather. And that was a combination, by the way, that merited much respect.

The Tech coaching staff was represented by Alexander, naturally, Fay Wood, George Griffin and Bud Amis. "Chip" Roberts, Henry Grady, Harry Stearns, Sr. and Jr., Lowry Arnold and Oscar Davis, not such an old-timer himself, completed the mighty fine party—if you don't count sporting writers, which we don't.

The fee—I mean buffet supper, preceded by a general gabfest, concerning everything from the integral calculus and the man at Tech who got a tooth knocked out in a game, went back to Grant field with a flashlight that night, stuck it back in his jaw and let it grow. Just because we haven't a touch of reputation to spare as Coach Aleck, it must be stated that he was responsible for that yarn.

Another One.

And also for the one about a boy at Tech who was supposed to stand an exam in higher algebra, but by mistake got into the room where an integral calculus examination was being stood and stayed fifth it for four hours without ever discovering the difference.

Ed Danforth and I laughed heartily at that one, just to make them think we would have known the difference.

And there was a lot of mighty wise talk from Mr. Arnold and the other old heads who knew whereof they spoke, and a mighty lot of enjoyment from those who were not so young. First and last, it was a powerful fine affair, and as long as Joe Rhodes lives and flings those fine parties, he stands no chance of ever losing one iota of that good reputation as a blame good fellow that he now enjoys.

Many Candidates Report To Auburn Cage Coaches

Auburn, Ala., December 5.—(Special.)—When the referee's whistle rung down the football curtain on Thanksgiving day closing the 1922 season and ending Old King Football to his place of hibernation, basketball appeared on the stage asking recognition for its regular intervals. On the F' ger campus, practices are getting well under way. While a number of the prospective candidates have been working at irregular intervals, the official call from Coach Hutsell was not issued until Monday afternoon, at which time the floor 'gen got down to work in earnestness preparing for the coming season's games.

Four letter men were on hand to take part in the opening workout. Besides Captain Fred Hahn, Wallace McKinney, Jessie Duke and Gene Creel constituted the contingent of letter men to greet the coaches on the first day out.

Joe Harrison, another letter man of last season, at center, is expected to answer the call within the next few days. Harrison has just turned in his grid togetery after a successful season on the varsity football team. Those of last year's letter men to return to college this year make up a full team. Two forwards, as many guards and a center. The reserve strength this season appears to be more abundant than any season for the past three or four years.

With the floor crowded with eager cage aspirants and a number of old men hustling to hold their previous rating a hot fight is expected for varsity honors. Basketball differs from football in that not so much reserve strength is needed and not so many regular places to fill, which makes it somewhat harder for a basketball man to land a regular place on the squad.

Many Candidates Out.

A number of likely looking fellows have come over from last season's scrub teams among whom are: Ware, Moore, Gray, Hughes, Hugenschmidt, McKinney, Jessie Duke and Gene Creel and McKinney. The latter is a brother of Wallace McKinney of last year's varsity.

Pending the arrival of Harrison, last year's regular pivot man, Creel has been assigned to the center of the floor. It is not known whether this is contemplated as permanent or whether Creel will be recalled to his place near the basket on Harrison's coming into the line-up.

In looking over the first workout, it seems that Captain Hahn, Bill McKinney, Barks, Evans and Johnson and for forwards, while Wallace McKinney, Duke, Gray, Hugenschmidt and Yates are in line for guards, Creel, Hugenschmidt and Hughes are strong contenders for the center job.

Coach Harry R. Cole will assist Coach Hutsell in the basketball training this season. Coach Cole is a former star center on the Auburn college quintet and will be of material assistance in making up this year's cage team on the Plains.

James I. Walker, better known as "Dixie" Walker to baseball fans, star pitcher of the New Orleans team last season, was made defendant today in a divorce suit filed in civil district court by his wife, Mrs. Margaret Lannou Walker, who charged him with drunkenness and threats against her life.

In her petition Mrs. Walker charged the pitcher with indulging in protracted "sprees" and that he attacked her with a ice-pick November 24.

The couple were married May 10, 1914, the petition stated. The divorce action declared that a suit for separation was filed by Mrs. Walker a year ago but on the importunities of her husband it was withdrawn.

Mrs. Dixie Walker Asks for Divorce

New Orleans, La., December 5.—James I. Walker, better known as "Dixie" Walker to baseball fans, star pitcher of the New Orleans team last season, was made defendant today in a divorce suit filed in civil district court by his wife, Mrs. Margaret Lannou Walker, who charged him with drunkenness and threats against her life.

Rollins College To Play Havana

Winter Park, Fla., December 5.—The Rollins college football team will meet the Havana university eleven in the Cuban capital December 20, it was definitely announced today. The date of the contest had been uncertain because a fire was said to have destroyed the Havana athletic field recently.

The Tars will go to Havana several days before the match, which is an annual test played alternately in Cuba and in the United States. The last year's game, played in Miami, was won by Rollins 81 to 0.

BIKE RACERS TIED IN SIX-DAY RACE

New York, December 5.—Eleven of the fourteen teams remaining in the international six-day bicycle race at Madison Square garden were tied for the lead tonight at 10 o'clock, the 70th hour of the contest. They had covered 1,264 miles and eight laps.

The Veri-Asini and Bauers-Tietz combinations were one lap behind and Nefatti and Chardon were trailing by two laps. Mosekops was setting the pace.

Sues Pittsburgh Club.

Pittsburgh, Pa., December 5.—Joseph Gordon has entered suit against the Pittsburgh Athletic club for $10,000, it became known here today. Gordon claims that while seated in the grandstand at Fort Hays during a baseball game between the Pittsburgh and New York Nationals in July, 1922, he was struck on the head by a pop bottle, thrown from the upper tier.

Makes Comeback And Beats Hoppe

New York, December 5.—Emerging from a twenty year retirement, Maurice Daly, 75 year old cushion arm champion of the world, tonight defeated Willie Hoppe, world's champion balk line player, in a closely fought 12 inning match of his favorite game, 50 to 49. The match was played for the benefit of a newspaper's Christmas fund.

Pierce Matthews Is Named Captain

Chapel Hill, N. C., December 5.—Pierce Matthews, of Asheville, star tackle, tonight was elected captain of the University of North Carolina's 1924 football team and at the same time "Jimmy" Pool, Greensboro, assistant manager of the eleven this year, was advanced automatically to the managership.

Wilson Consents New Year's Game

Annapolis, Md., December 5.—Rear Admiral Wilson, superintendent of the Naval academy, today gave his consent to the trip by the Midway gridders to Pasadena, New Year's day, for a post-season game with the University of Washington.

The itinerary for the trip, as mapped out several weeks ago, will stand. This calls for the jaunt across the continent, via the Baltimore & Ohio to Chicago, and returning over the Santa Fe System to New Orleans, and Washington. The gridders warriors will have nearly a day in Chicago and also will visit the Grand Canyon. The entire journey will consume about two weeks. The party will leave Annapolis Christmas day and is due at Pasadena December 30. Leaving Pasadena January 2, they will arrive at Annapolis five days later.

Van Fleet Will Coach Florida

Tampa, Fla., December 5.—Major Van Fleet, who coached the Florida varsity gridiron team for the past three years, will again be in charge in 1924, it became known here today. Dr. A. A. Murphree, president of the university, earlier this week made public the fact that Van Fleet had made arrangements to take a three months' vacation next fall so that he may guide the destinies of the Gators. This year is Major Van Fleet's last year in reserve officers training camp work. Each officer is allowed four years in college service and Major Van Fleet had spent one year at Kansas A. and M. school before coming to Gainesville. However, an officer is allowed three months' vacation after the four years' service and the army officer will take his next fall.

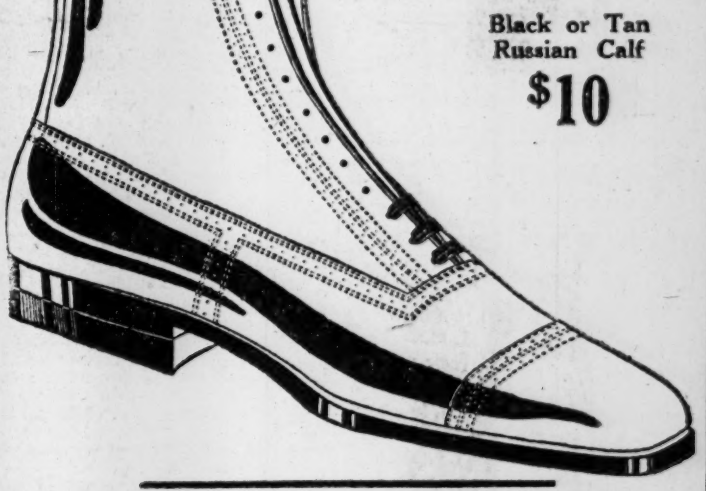

Dr. Murphree was very enthusiastic in praising the coach's ability and is confident the Orange and Blue team under him will prove one of the best in the entire country.

BASKETBALL PROSPECTS ARE BRIGHT AT ALABAMA

Six Letter Men Returned From Last Year's Outfit; Reserve Material Is Good

University, Alabama, December 5.—(Special.)—With the curtains drawn to the football season, interest is now centered on the coming basketball season, and fandom is wondering whether "Bama" will have another of her great teams.

At the present time, the prospects look rather cheerful with six letter men of last season's team back, and with one exception the whole freshman team present, it is going to be a battle to see just who will make the regular berth.

The team this year is in charge of Coach Hank Crisp, and he has started to work in earnest towards getting the quintet in shape for its preliminary games. The boys are no longer wondering why he has been dubbed "Hustling Hank".

While regular practice has been under way hardly a week, Coach Crisp has had all men who were not out for football working around the gym for the past few weeks, and all the candidates are in generally good physical condition.

Clayton Hudson and Armistead Leak, two veteran guards of last year's team, have been lost, having graduated. Both men played four years on the Crimson quintet, and their places will be hard to fill. With the exception of these two men, Crisp has Carter, captain of this year's quintet, and one of the best pivot men in the south back at his old position. The forward combination of Stabler and McGauley will be together for another year at the guard positions. McClinck and Probst have returned, while Probst is also an understudy of Carter at center. McGauley, letter man of last season, can play either a forward or guard position, and will see much action this year.

Have Men From East Team.
From last year's freshman team, Anderson and Cohen, two little but very fast men, will prove a very valuable addition to the squad. Hudson and S. McGauley, guards of the rat team, will most likely see service on this year's team.

McDonald, Finley, and Whorton, reserves of last year, have been working out for the past few weeks, and have shown much improvement. Grant Gillis, stellar footballer, will be out for the quintet this year. Gillis is an excellent basketball player, but has not been out before because of an ankle which he broke during basketball three seasons ago. He is very likely to prove his worth on the court, as he has done this year on the gridiron.

Just when the first game will be played is not known at the present time. Although the schedule is now nearly complete, it does not call for any games before Christmas, but Coach Crisp has announced that most probably two or three preliminary matches would be undertaken before the holidays.

Clinton Wins.
Newark, N. J., December 5.—John A. Clinton, of Pittsburgh, today defeated Dr. Richard M. Roscoe, of Baltimore, 250 points to 195 in the fifth round of the national amateur 181 pound championship boxing being played here.

IVAN PARKE FLOWERS AND ROBINSON IN TENNIS ROW RETURNS GO IS SUGGESTED

RIDES FIVE WINNERS

New Orleans, December 5.—Ivan ("Ike") Parke, who smells of horses and walks on legs like pipe-stems, became an awesome specter to the bookmakers of the United States Wednesday when, for the second time in a few months, he rode five winners in a single day's program of racing. He also became the champion rider of the American turf for the season of 1923, although still an apprentice rider with two months yet to serve.

Parke ran second on Reelfoot, owned by Mrs. J. A. Smith, in the first race of the day, collecting place money on a horse that had not figured anywhere in the race in the advance calculations of the prospectors. However, the fact that Parke was to be abroad caused a rejiggering of prices and Reelfoot and the horse went to the post quoted at 2-1 to win, 4-5 to place and 1-3 to show.

In a field of nine horses, Bessie Wright, ridden by Parke, was quoted as a horse that had not figured anywhere in the race in the advance calculations of the prospectors. However, the fact that Parke was to be abroad caused a rejiggering of prices and Reelfoot and the horse went to the post quoted at 2-1 to win, 4-5 to place and 1-3 to show.

RETURN GO IS SUGGESTED

BY HENRY ALLEN.
With a full in the boxing business right at the present many fans are now busy discussing possibilities for a big match to be staged on Christmas night at the auditorium.

Many matches have been suggested by various followers of the game but the one that appears to be the favorite is a return go between Tiger Flowers, Atlanta's dusky champion, and Georgia Robinson, the Boston negro of gingercake hue.

If promoters can be induced to put this match on Christmas no doubt the auditorium would be taxed to capacity on that night.

The few followers of the game that witnessed the last bout between these two and there were only a few there because it was the smallest crowd that has ever attended a Flowers fight in quite a while, admitted that it was just about the best scrap that has been witnessed here in some time.

Make Impression.
Robinson made a great impression on the fans that night and was nearer a match for the Atlanta title than has been seen here in the past few months. According to rumors floating around boxing circles, Robinson was so feared that the bookies refused to bet that he would finish worse than second, although eight horses ran. Parke and Antonia won.

V. V. Casey's Super was Parke's winning mount in the fourth. Again there was no show-price quoted and the odds for win and place sagged down to 11-20 and 1-5.

W. M. Cain's Sewell Combs seemed to have little chance even with Parke on the ridge, so the gamblers took courage just before the fifth race. The odds were 7-10 and 1-5 against. A few minutes later, Parke was home in front with his fourth winner of the afternoon. His fifth ride was made on Grass Tree at 5-2, even, and 2-5.

This ended a day of tragedy for the trackside capitalists. One day during the summer, Parke rode four winners and the next day he rode five. It is still two months less than a year since he won his first race.

Yanks Are After Shocker

In Place of Mays in Trade; Other Deals Are Pending

BY WALTER CAMP.

New York, December 5.—The "tempest in a tea pot" stirred up in tennis ranks through an article by William Tilden and comment on it by a member of the committee brings up a point that has been stressed by this writer for more than a year—that no efforts are being made by the committee to develop doubles play throughout the country.

The throwing together of two men at the last minute may jeopardize our chances in the Davis cup matches at Chicago, although announcement of it may be withheld for some time. This transaction would involve the transfer of several players as well as a wealthy backer to St. Louis, as Hornsby is valued as a drawing card, not only for his talent at the bat but at second base.

The entire Giant team except Travis Jackson, recruit shortstop, who became a regular last summer, Ross Young, outfielder, and Frank Frisch, second baseman, is on the counter, the men to be traded away individually for opportunity offers, in return for pitchers.

Frank Chance, new manager of the White Sox, will have several players on loan to him through their stunts for the stock-buyers, as he wants to reorganize the team that was accused of dawdling under the management of Kid Gleason last summer.

The Browns will get rid of Urban Shocker unless Shocker beats the club-owners to it by obtaining his unconditional release through his appeal to Judge Landis.

Yanks After Shocker.
The New York Yankees, who turned Shocker loose several seasons ago and lived to meet him as their Nemesis in many hard games, probably will try to get him back to take the place of Carl Mays who has been waived out of the American league.

Mays has been claimed by three National league clubs, including the Brooklyn Dodgers, at the waiver price of $14,000, but no deal has yet been made. His decline last summer from high position to that of a warm-up pitcher, always toiling in the bullpen, is a mystery to baseball.

Barney Dreyfuss, of the Pirates, is said to have tried to get rid of Rabbit Maraville, his shortstop, having grown impatient of Maraville's light-hearted conduct.

Ed Houch, the Reds' outfielder, an annual holdout, is reported to be on his way to the Giants in exchange for players, including, possibly, George Kelly. McCarthy, however, New York baseball experts cannot understand how Roush, who wants a salary of $20,000 a year, would be-

A PIECE FOR THE PAPER

BY PAUL WARWICK
Verse—Absolutely Free

Pursuing a dilettantish course in reading whatever comes to hand, we recently fell afoul of a book of free verse, written by a European, about Europe, in the hope of selling copies to Americans who couldn't use much Europe. That doesn't matter, we like Europe. But the stuff that bore us.

It seems a pity that poor deluded sporting writers can't steal it. If we had thought of it and other specimens of liberal poetry we have come in contact with in recent years, at the time, we could have saved ourselves a lot of trouble. For instance, a few examples of how we could have covered sporting events:

A FOOTBALL GAME.
The referee's whistle, screaming like winds of Hell
That sweep the spheres and scream in agony . . . scream agonies.
A rush of bodies like wild horses stampeding, panting . . .
eyes bloodshot.
Bent over . . . crouched . . . kneeling . . . snap . . .
rush . . . no gain . . . Ah!
White lines crossing; rule-drawn chalk-marks on a black-board.
Quarterback, halfback, fullback, drawback, touchback, sore back.
People, folks, populace, mob, throng, the scent of corn
tikker, Ah!

A darting form, gone, missed, the bum!
Center, guard, tackle, the end!
Alas, the end!

A COLORED PRIZE FIGHT.
Seated figures in carven ebony; whispered adjurations;
The gong . . . chairs out of ring . . . a clash of dark flesh.
Black oxen . . .
Flying fists . . . closed optic . . . the claret . . . round one.
Clash again, raspberry chorus . . . sibilant hisses . . . punk.
Knuckles flash . . . chin receptive . . . knocked out.
Six Days?
Three weeks!

AN EXCITING CHESS GAME.
Pawns . . . pawnshops . . . wonder what's on at the movies;
The football season's over; basketball's coming . . . cagers;
Frankfurters and potato salad for lunch . . . too much . . .
near beer;
Don't hurry him . . . he moved last week . . . interminable;
Ennui . . .
Who'll captain Tech? . . . Niehoff . . . new grandstands;
All right . . . let's go . . .

—WHEN THEY'RE FAR AWAY.
Another dream shattered!
She walked down Whitehall street—with elfin steps. Graceful, lovely, seemingly a veritable angel of heaven come down to do some shopping. Toward me she came and I was breathless that creature could be so radiantly lovely. I stopped to let her pass.
Just as she came near me her foot slipped on the treacherous walk, and down she fell in all her radiant glory.
"My Gawd," she said, "can ya beat it?"
I did.

Is Named Captain.
Clinton, S. C., December 5.—Porter H. Bomar, of Prescott, Ariz., has been named captain of the 1924 football eleven of the Presbyterian College of South Carolina. Bomar, a junior, has played tackle for the past few seasons.

Dan O'Dowd After Stribling Bout
New York, December 5.—Dan O'Dowd, New England light-heavyweight champion, is particularly anxious to meet Young Stribling, the Macon light-heavyweight sensation, in an Atlanta ring.

O'Dowd has been trailing Stribling for many months. Pa Stribling, manager of the young Macon star, was offered a Stribling-O'Dowd match by New York, Boston and Philadelphia promoters, but he declined the three offers to send his charge against O'Dowd.

Dan is a star performer in New York and New England rings. He made Gene Tunney, American light-heavyweight champion, extend himself two months ago to win a decision in 12 rounds. Tunney's margin was a hairline one.

Captain Bob Roper, the A. F. F. heavyweight, received the worst beating of his career from O'Dowd. He had the army captain out when the bell saved Bob in the fifteenth round.

Bill Brennan, Leo P. Flynn's heavy-weight, received a severe pasting in a Providence ring from Dan.

White Sox-Giants May Make Tour
New York, December 5.—The possibility of a European tour by the New York Giants and Chicago White Sox during the coming winter has aroused interest in baseball circles.

Officials of the Giants today said they had taken no definite steps toward such a project, but it was pointed out that some significance might be attached to the idea through the presence abroad of John J. McGraw, manager of the National league champions.

Prospects Are Bright at Va. Eleven Is Selected

University, Va., December 5.—With six of the seven basketball letter men of last season back in the University of Virginia, the outlook for 1924 is brighter than ever. Fourteen games are already arranged on the tentative schedule that is being shaped up by Thomas Carruthers, manager of basketball.

Bolling Stanley, forward, is captain of the team that is now in training under the direction of "Pop" Lannigan. Among the men on the court squad are Bill Brown, captain last year, Paul Walp, and "Tootie" Hall, guards, Clifton Miller, center and Tom McCoy, forward, all wearers of the "V." "Chuck" Lewis is the only one of last season's regulars who will not be in action.

Until the Christmas holidays the men will practice in Fayerweather gymnasium, but the new Student Memorial gymnasium will be open for all the match games as well as for the workouts during the next term.

Manager Carruthers hopes to add other games to the list and bring it up to about 18. It is probable that a game will be arranged in Louisville, Ky., if an opponent can be found with an open date that will fit in the trip to Kentucky. Since examinations will start on March 5, no games can be arranged after February 23.

COLLEGES RESUME ATHLETIC RELATIONS
Parkersburg, W. Va., December 5.—Contracts were signed here and at Marietta today which closes an athletic break of two years standing between Marietta college and West Virginia Wesleyan.

The contracts call for a game between the football teams of the two schools at Parkersburg, October 18, 1924.

Chicago, December 5.—Selection of a mythical all-western conference football team following the 1923 season by sport experts, critics and coaches, has revealed a similarity of opinion as to outstanding players for most of the positions.

The composite, including choices of eight out of ten Big Ten coaches results in the following selections for positions on the mythical eleven:

Left End—Eklund, Minnesota.
Center—Blott, Michigan.
Right Guard—Fleckenstein, Iowa.
Right Tackle—Muirhead, Michigan.
Right End—Rokusek, Illinois.

Quarterback—Workman, Ohio State.
Left Half—Grange, Illinois.
Right Half—Martineau, Minnesota.
Fullback—Taft, Wisconsin.

The choice of Grange for halfback; Eklund for end, Belov for tackle; Blott for center and Taft for fullback was almost unanimous among coaches and experts. Workman was the general selection for quarterback with almost all but the coaches, who overlooked him and voted to place Kipke of Michigan, in this position. Kipke was named by several for a halfback position.

MCGRAW IS ELECTED CAPTAIN OF PENN.
Philadelphia, December 5.—Rea McGraw, of Buffalo, was today elected captain of the 1924 University of Pennsylvania football team. He is a junior and has been a member of the varsity squad two years, playing most of at half-back. McGraw also played this year on the varsity baseball team.

The market appears to be overbought and the probabilities are that we shall see a further liquidation before the crisis report is made in talk of large gainings—Fenner & Beane.

COTTON LETTER.

NEW Orleans, December 5.—An erratic market for cotton futures was displayed on several occasions. Considering the countervailing influence of southern river levee and rumors on private flights, the market gave a good account of itself. The Liverpool should slow down is not at all a new idea after the flood of foreign cotton which has lasted rather longer than the long run, the supply situation will be the main price determining factor, and we look for higher prices eventually. COTTON LETTER.
New York, December 5.—Through some Liverpool quotations came over this morning, the market was not so active, although the quotations were corrected before the market opened. The market was not naturally left a considerable unsettledness, which was not so much as the New York, December 5.—Heavy buying of the Erie railroad raised the price of which comprised more than one-tenth of the day's total transactions of more than 1,000,000 shares, featured today's irregularly higher prices resumed their upward movement in today's curb market. Early gains were materially reduced in some cases, by realizing shares. Active oil shares showed presented in a lower market cost or opening. The market was not expected to be depressed but in a reduced volume so that the business was on a smaller scale and there was a growing inclination to wait the season out. The market for the rice was not so much indicated of a probable estimate of the crop as it was in the case of the corn. In December 12, there has been a reaction in the market for the rice, the price has been reduced or cancelled by the wave of profit taking which set in during the afternoon of the 12th.

The strength of Eric was variously attributed to the fact that the market was already fixed, it is possible, however, that the market will be somewhat modified so they anticipate a larger crop than has recently been estimated. The fact that the crop is yielding more than mental attitude, but it has a considerable influence on the market. The crop is undoubtedly short. The market is a large crop of the Van Swearingen interests of Cleveland, who are said to be anxious to quit the market to the properties of the railroad. Some observers, however, saw sufficient cause for the upward movement in current earnings. The common stock crossed 22 and the second preferred

New York, December 5.—The cotton market felt the weight of renewed or continued liquidations today and not only lost the rallies from yesterday's low level, but broke into new low ground for the movement. March contracts, which sold at 34.00 during the early trading, declined to 33.75, or 135 points from the best, and 110 below yesterday's close quotations. March closed at 34.75, the general market closing irregular and cited at net declines of 92 to 105 points on present crop positions and of 55 to 90 points on the new crop.

The market opened steady at a decline of 25 points, to an advance of 13 points and then fell after the call owing to a turn for the better in Liverpool, covering and re-buying. Reports that trade interests were fixing prices at the opening quotation and the rally after declines in Liverpool seemed to be making a better sentiment here. After selling 18 to 30 points net higher, the market again turned easier. There were reiterated rumors of large ginning figures, one of them cited at net declines of 92 to 105 points on present crop positions and of 55 to 90 points on the new crop.

The break which followed carried December off from 36.25, the early high level, to 35.00, while January declined from 35.75 to 34.50 and May from 35.25 to 34.88. These prices represented net declines of 102 to 105 points from the high of the day and from the high of the week. Closing prices were within 5 to 10 points of the lowest. Notices representing 2,100 bales were reported, but December held its own and at the close showed a premium of 60 points over January.

SPOTS IN NEW YORK.
New York, December 5.—Spot cotton quiet; middling 35.00.

LOSSES ARE SEEN AT NEW ORLEANS.
New Orleans, December 5.—Fluctuations were made in the cotton market today and, after the early trading, the trend was lower, heaviest selling pressure being felt in the late trading when January was forced to 34.00, and the list to losses under yesterday's final sales of 102 to 113 points. The close was practically at the lowest.

Much of the selling of the day was done on rumors of fairly large ginning during the last ginning period. As the decline proceeded liquidation, in a large way, came from the long side and late in the day stop loss orders in considerable volume were caught on the long side. Heaviest selling followed the rumor that a private broker report on ginning, which was generally expected would be bearish, would be issued after the close of the market. Early selling followed the report.

Presbyterians May Make Women Equal Places on Boards

Cleveland, Ohio, December 5.—A movement, fulfillment of which would give women equal representation with men on the legislative bodies of the Presbyterian Church of the United States was disclosed during today's sessions of the National Presbyterian conference here.

The petition embodying a request for such representation has been forwarded to the general assembly of the church by the executive board of the Women's Missionary Society of Cincinnati. Mrs. Mary Louise Blinn, its president, announced.

The petition which constitutes the first attempt of Presbyterian women to obtain equal suffrage within the church, probably will be acted upon at the meeting of the general assembly at Grand Rapids, Mich., next May.

Besides giving women an equal voice with men in legislative matters, the petition asks that a women's missionary society of the Presbyterian Church of the United States be created with authority to appoint men who sit on boards of the assembly, instruct its representatives, publish an official organ and have control over the funds which the missionary societies collect—powers now held by the national and foreign missionary boards appointed by the assembly.

At the present time the $15,000,000 budget for the next financial year among the 40 synods also was completed today under a new method in which the synods are asked to pay their willingness to contribute and the size of the congregations were taken into consideration.

A special committee appointed today, is to present resolutions among which is expected to be an affirmation of the doctrine of the church in the "fundamental truths" of the Bible rather than the interpretations of "liberals."

The celebration here was brought to a close last night with a reception in honor of the descendants of President Monroe and today a program was given to "Ash Lawn," home of Monroe, near Charlottesville. Addresses were on the program after the party returned to the city. The program was given by the Thomas Jefferson Memorial Foundation.

SIR WILLIAM M'KENZIE, NOTED CANADIAN, DEAD

Toronto, December 5.—Sir William M'Kenzie, leading Canadian financier and railroad builder, died today after a long illness. He was 74.

Sir William had worked off pneumonia after having been ill for some time and was believed to be recovering. Lady MacKenzie died some years ago.

Sir William's spectacular rise from a country school teacher to a position where he was able to dominate a vast transcontinental railway and ocean steamship lines with holdings in various traction, light, power, insurance and financial concerns in Canada, the United States and South America made him a romantic figure.

Sir William, a typical Scotch Canadian, was born at Kirkfield on October 20, 1849. He soon abandoned the teaching profession for a commercial career.

From 1871 to 1884 he was engaged in the construction of various Ontario railroads. In 1884 he went to western Canada and was instrumental in putting the Canadian Pacific through the Rockies.

Two years later he formed his famous partnership with Sir Donald Mann and entered into a second trans-continental railway, the Canadian Northern, earning himself the title of "emperor of the north."

In 1911 he was knighted by King George.

The lean war years cramped the growth of the Canadian Northern and led to financial difficulties which resulted in its purchase by the Dominion government.

Sir William also was active in philanthropic work.

JAPS URGING ACTION AGAINST U. S. LAWS

Tokio, December 5.—(By the Associated Press.)—Aroused by the return from the United States of large numbers of Japanese immigrants, various public organizations and vernacular newspapers of the empire are urging the foreign office to take some action which will offset the effect of the decision of the United States supreme court sustaining anti-alien laws of California and Washington.

Thus far, beyond sending instructions for the guidance of Ambassador Hanhara at Washington, the contents of which have not been disclosed, the government has taken no action. Proposals for the abolition of dual Japanese and American nationality and for enforcement of the anti-alien land act, passed by the diet ten years ago, but never enforced, have been under consideration for a year, however.

Difficulties foreseen in government circles in the enforcing of the anti-alien land act arises from the fact that restrictions on the ownership of land by Japanese and American citizens of the United States, which now permit aliens to own land.

FRENCH TROOPS MOVED OUTSIDE RUHR TOWNS

Paris, December 5.—(By the Associated Press.)—The troops occupying the Ruhr are gradually to be concentrated in camps outside the city, it was explained by French government officials today. The design is to make the occupancy less irritating to the Germans, in reward for their apparent disposition to abandon their hostility toward the occupation and to cooperate with the allied regime.

There is no idea of evacuating the Ruhr at present, it is stated, and the French troops will be maintained at their existing strength for the time being, pending developments, but will be taken off the streets and out of the cities so that the population will not be constantly reminded of their presence, thus reducing the occasion for possible friction.

The principal measure of relief for their existing strength for the time being, pending developments, but will be taken off the streets and out of the cities so that the population will not be constantly reminded of their presence, thus reducing the occasion for possible friction.

TARIFF CONGRESS TO CONVENE TODAY

Chattanooga, Tenn., December 5.—John H. Kirby, of Houston, Texas, president of the Southern Tariff association, arrived here today to attend the tariff congress which convenes here tomorrow. In the course of an interview Mr. Kirby explained the purpose of the organization official congress as a non-partisan aspect and does not concern itself with the politics of the tariff. He said, however:

"We do contend that regardless of whether our tariff levies are laid for revenue or protection—whether written by a democratic or republican administration—they will be so laid as not to discriminate against the raw material of the living and based upon duties that will maintain American standards of living."

"Neither do we concede that all democrats are free traders, nor all republicans protectionists. A study of history will convince us that this is not the case. A glance of the proceedings of the last congress when the present tariff law was written abundantly proves the fallacy of this claim. If it had not been for eleven years of democratic senates, vegetable oil, the product now under fire by the tariff commission, would have been on the free list. On the other hand, a republican senate with a majority of twenty-three which placed hides and long staple cotton, two leading products of the south, and southwest on the free list."

"In view of this, we do not consider that the tariff is wholly a political question or do we believe that its ultimate solution lies with either political party."

"The southern tariff association provides a forum for the discussion of the tariff free from party prejudice where the members of both parties can meet without forfeiting party affiliations and counsel together in the interest of the producers of the south. The coming congress at Chattanooga will be such a forum and the discussion will hinge largely around the vegetable oil schedule which is threatened with destruction by powerful organized selfish commercial interests."

Newspapers Bare Source of Income To Trusting Wife

Kansas City, Mo., December 5.—When E. L. Hartnell started on a trip to Los Angeles he gave his wife here $1,000 for "pin money."

"Where are you getting this money," she asked him according to her story to the police.

"Don't you know who your husband is?" Hartnell replied. "Say honey, read the newspaper."

She did and the first bit of news that came to her attention was the robbery of the Independence bank here. Then Hartnell's brother, Grant, was arrested and confessed to 18 hold-ups in nine months.

He implicated his brother whom police are seeking now.

Hartnell said his bandit gang operated in Kansas City and Los Angeles, the two cities leading in the "Big League banditry" stealing.

ARMY MAN TO ATTEMPT
NEW ALTITUDE RECORD

Washington, December 5.—Lieutenant John A. MacReady, army air service, will attempt on the first day practicable, it was announced at the war department, to establish a new altitude record by use of an improved super-charger which will permit the engine of his plane to function efficiently at extreme heights.

The new mechanism was invented by Dr. S. A. Moss, and is an improvement over the equipment used by MacReady in 1921 when he established a world's record for altitude of 34,500 feet, which stood until October this year when Sadi LeCointe, a French flier, reached 36,364 feet.

The purpose of the American officers' attempt will be to test the new super-charger which is described as a considerable refinement over the equipment previously used. The new mechanism, it is stated, at an altitude of 25,000 feet "will increase the power of a Liberty engine by over 300 horsepower."

The new super-charger weighs only eight pounds, although a commercial air compressor of the same capacity, according to army experts would have a weight of 5,000 pounds.

MOVIE BALL PROVES SPECTACULAR AND MOST ENJOYABLE EVENT

Costumes Are Beautiful, Dances Are Captivating And Skits Are Clever

Atlanta society leaders assembled as well-known characters in the cinema world, or else as on-lookers, at the benefit movie ball given Wednesday evening at the Piedmont Driving club, and from the moment that Mrs. Charles M. Sciple, as Pola Negri, clicked her castanets and danced her graceful way into the ballroom everyone present realized that the movie ball was perhaps the most brilliant and spectacular event ever staged in Atlanta. Every feature of the program presented a professional appearance and fully demonstrated the wonderful artistic ability of the general manager, Mrs. Frank S. Ellis, masquerading as Mrs. Leslie Carter, in "The Circle," who planned the successful entertainment. Henry Tompkins, gorgeously costumed as "The Sheikh," in flowing robes of gold and white satin, and a superb headress of gold announced the numbers.

The Danse Apache, with Mrs. Grafton Wiggins and William Winder was the distinctive feature of "Post One at Rooney's" their costumes suggestive of the scene, while the Pretty Peggy number from the Vanities of 1923, with its burlesque was one of the hits of the evening.

Mrs. Claiborne Glover, beautiful in her white tulle and sequin gown, ermine coat, with more than twenty diamond bracelets encircling her arm, and a diamond bandeau in her blonde hair led the number in which Charles Lyons sang the solo and Dick Hull, William McCarty, Ted Miller and "Pup" McWhorter did the chorus work. Frank Harold, Jr., of America, gave an eccentric dance between the burlesque Peggy's entrance, Miss Garda Horton, followed by the same chorus, who appeared as waiters, Forney Wyly directed this number.

The Rudolph Valentinos.
Miss Nell Sims and Kenneth McMillan, perfect in their representation of Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph Valentino, danced the "Argentine Tango," while Bert McIntyre, resplendent in blue and lavender chiffon, with bodice of turquoise blue velvet broadened in gold and trimmed in rhinestones, was splendid as Zaza. Dainty Ann Pennington was charmingly represented by Mrs. Grafton Wiggins, of New York, who danced an exquisite solo number.

Mrs. Thomas Prescott, charming in a gown of red velvet, impersonated Dorothy Dalton. Her original piano solo and recitations delighted the guests.

Grand March.
The grand march, led by Mr. and Mrs. John William Grant, was formed by moving picture stars and characters from famous screen successes impersonated by prominent personages in Atlanta society.

Supper was served at 11:30 o'clock, and general dancing followed. Hand-some favors were distributed by Mrs. John E. Murphy, Mrs. John N. Goddard, Mrs. Thomas B. Payne and Mrs. Robert F. Maddox, who presided at the favor tables.

Mr. and Mrs. Paine Lead Figures.
Mr. and Mrs. Thomas B. Paine led three favor figures after supper, in which long wands with ticklers on the end were given the girls, and various colored balls with stickers presented the boys, occasioning a great deal of merriment. In the second figure, when the entire assemblage participated in the grand right and left march, the tarlatan festoons filled with several hundred balloons, opening on the dancers, and those balloons drifted down on the crowd. The Jackie Coogan figure was perhaps the most attractive of all, for twenty-four Jackie Coogans, carrying richly decorated pies, mingled with the dancers and each and every one "put in a thumb and pulled out a plum" in the nature of some favor such as fancy caps, noise makers, bags of confetti and other interesting gifts. The carnival spirit reigned in which ribbon streamers and confetti were used to add fun and gaiety to the scene.

Proceeds From Ball.
The proceeds from the ball will go to the Martha Berry school, at Mount Berry, near Rome. This school, so dear to the hearts of Atlanta and all Georgia, is greatly in need of help, and help from home. With its six hundred students, from rural and mountain regions of the state, and its founder who has given the past twenty-one years of her life to the school, an inspiration was given Mrs.

Miss Marjorie Davidson was costumed to represent Billie Burke. Miss Mary Jimmie Patillo went as a Chinese girl. Miss Maria Brown represented a Gypsy girl. Mrs. Harold Rogers was seen as a skating girl. Mrs. Veazy Rainwater represented Norma Talmadge in "Smilin' Through."

Mrs. William McKenzie and Mrs. Clifford Hatcher went as two Gaby dolls from Paris.

Mrs. Henry Newman portrayed "Sweet Nell of Old Drury."

William McKenzie and L. G. Robinson appeared as Jackie Coogan in "Long Live the King."

Miss Sims' Gown.
Miss Nell Sims, as Mrs. Rudolph Valentino, wore a gown of black satin, the full flowing skirt faced with red chiffon, and the long scarf worn around the shoulders was of red chiffon. Her hair was parted in the middle and closely coiffed over her ears, and she wore large crimson flowers in her hair.

Miss Margaret Elder was a splendid impersonation of Mary Pickford with her mass of golden curls falling over her shoulders. Her gown was an old-fashioned model of rose colored chiffon velvet made with an empire bodice.

Miss Telside Pratt wore a cunning blue satin pajama suit representing Mae Murray in "Jazz Mania."

Miss Harriet Shelden wore an attractive French maid's costume representing Mae McAvoy.

Miss Pauline Gray was a most attractive figure representing Viola Dana.

Mrs. Ewel Gay appeared as Lady Marion in Robin Hood.

Frank W. Inman was Tom Mix, one of the greatest comedians of the movie world.

Handsome Gowns.
Mrs. John E. Murphy wore black chiffon velvet embroidered in rhinestones.

Mrs. Preston S. Ackers' gown was of white chiffon, crystal trimmed.

Mrs. Glenville Giddings was gowned in silver brocade metal cloth.

Miss Florence Boskin wore a beautiful model of American beauty gownette trimmed with silver.

Mrs. Frank Inman's gown was of silver brocade metal cloth, trimmed with rhinestones.

Mrs. Reginald Pope wore an exquisite gown of broadened silver cloth with rhinestone ornaments.

Mrs. James D. Robinson's gown was of jade green chiffon, crystal embroidered.

Mrs. Charles Conklin wore a handsome gown of French blue tulle embroidered in black sequins over a satin foundation. Completing the costume was a white wig.

Miss Grace Goldsmith wore a gown of jade green chiffon combined with silver lace.

Miss Sara Schoen was gowned in black chiffon beaded in crystals.

Mrs. Thomas Paine wore a stunning gown of white crepe beaded in rhinestones.

Mrs. W. W. Banks was gowned in black salome velvet trimmed in rhinestones.

Mrs. Dunbar Roy wore a handsome model of yellow chiffon elaborately beaded in crystals.

Parties Given.
Mr. and Mrs. Albert Pritchard entertained Mrs. E. A. Bream, of Pittsburg, Pa., and Dudley Woodward.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel T. Weyman had as their guests, Mrs. George Conners, of Birmingham, Ala.; Miss Katherine Heath, of Columbia, S. C.; Thomas Glenn, Hugh Richardson and George Weyman.

A congenial party included Mr. and Mrs. Carey Baker, Mr. and Mrs.

Dana Belser, Mr. and Mrs. William Spalding, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Clarke, Harry Woodward, Al Thornwell and Homer Hunt.

Miss Pauline De Givie, lovely debutante of the winter, was honor guest in the party given by Miss Louise Emmie Nixon, Jack Caldwell, Alfred Thompson, Parks Hunt, Walter Inman, and invited to meet her were Misses Mary Shelden, Sue Bucknell, Whiteman, Lawson Kiser, Baxter
